

Council to meet again tonight Tie vote on Venice mayor

By MICK STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Venice City Council became deadlocked 4-4 Tuesday night in an attempt to choose an acting mayor to head the city until the April 17 city election.

Alderman George Mangiaracino was nominated for the position by Alderman Hank A. Svezia, and Alderman Tyrone Echols was nominated by Alderman John Ervin.

Aldermen voting in a roll call for Mangiaracino were E. H. Buentz, Svezia, Phillip Daniels and Mangiaracino.

Voting for Echols were Oscar King, George Lewis, Ervin and Echols.

Following the tie vote, Mayor Pro-tem Buentz called for a recess and the eight aldermen went into a private room to discuss the situation.

During the recess, Harry Hartman, city attorney, was called in for legal opinions regarding the function of the acting mayor and method of his selection.

Unable to resolve the deadlock over choosing an acting mayor during the first recess, the council resumed the regular meeting, completed routine business and Mayor Pro-tem Buentz recessed the meeting until 7 p.m. today.

The vacancy was created Jan. 1 by the resignation of Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold due to health reasons.

The council elected Buentz as mayor pro-tem to conduct the Tuesday evening council meeting. However, a mayor pro-tem is elected at each meeting and does not have the authority of a regular mayor or acting mayor, according to the Illinois State law.

An acting mayor must be elected, according to the city attorney, in order to legally run the business of the city, including such items as approving the city payroll before checks can be issued to city employees.

If the situation is not resolved at today's meeting, city employees will face a payless Friday.

City paychecks are signed by the mayor, treasurer and comptroller.

2nd Pontoon Beach ticket

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Don Patrick, 31, of 3819 Pontoon Road, announced Tuesday evening that he will run for president of the Pontoon Beach Village Board on the Pontoon Progress Party ticket.

Patrick made his announcement and introduced the members of the ticket during a wine and cheese party at Frank's DAP Lounge in Gaslight Walk.

Other members of the ticket are Wilma Bowen, 6 Sunflower Court, candidate for village clerk, and trustee candidates Dean "Doc" Rochester, 27 Westgate Drive, David L. Johnson, 3003 Lake St., and Richard G. McIntosh, 6 Fontainebleau Drive.

They will oppose the previously announced slate of the Continued Community Development Party, headed by Paul Bennett for village president. Other members of that ticket are incumbent clerk Mary Warren, who is seeking re-election, and trustee candidates, incumbents Loren Madison and Keith Biggs, and the village building inspector Glen Wilson.

The official period for filing petitions of candidacy begins Monday, Jan. 8.

Charlie Polley, campaign manager for the ticket, introduced the candidates and the other officers of the party — Mrs. Audrey Ribbing, chairman, and Chester E. Dean, treasurer.

He also noted that Mrs. Irene Karlechik, who declined an invitation to run for village clerk, has been named honorary chairman of the party.

Mrs. Karlechik was unable to attend the event for health reasons, but a statement from her was read in which she stated, "It is an honor and pleasure to be associated with this group of enthusiastic people, chosen as your candidates. They are ready to give two very precious commodities — themselves and their time — to remedy a situation which does, indeed, need help. The least we can do is stand in

Perhaps the most brilliant airport planner anywhere, Arven H. Saunders will be leaving Madison County this month on a two-year leave of absence to develop airports in oil-rich Saudi Arabia. His long quest for a new airport at Columbia-Waterloo, Ill., has kept him and the issue in the news for the past nine years.

The final chapter of his story here remains to be written.

Missourians who saw the Illinois airport plan as a scheme to steal an economic and transportation bonanza claim they have won, and cite Saunders' impending departure as confirmation.

Saunders disagrees and says the Columbia-Waterloo proposal not only is still viable but also is becoming more and more needed as airline volume grows and Lambert Airport becomes increasingly congested.

He vows to return in two years to complete the task, voicing hope that in the meantime U.S. Transportation Secretary Brock Adams will change his mind or move on to some other job.

Brock's predecessor gave Saunders

Boost pay of next city street director

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

An increase of $4,500 per year in the salary of the Granite City street superintendent was authorized by the City Council in its regular meeting Tuesday night.

The council approved by a vote of 10 to 2 a motion to set the street superintendent's salary at $22,000 annually, an increase from the present salary of $17,500.

While several aldermen questioned the policy of continuing a $100 per month expense payment received by the present street superintendent, Lionel Portell, no final action was taken on that matter.

At the same time, Finance Committee Chairman Paul R. Bowler, alderman of the Seventh Ward, said his committee would recommend that no increase be made in the present salary of the aldermen.

The 14 ward aldermen now receive $75 for each meeting attended, plus a flat $50 per month expense fund.

There was no action made on the aldermen's salary question and no council action taken, although Bowler indicated that a finance committee report may be made in the next council session Jan. 16.

Mayor Paul Schuler told the council that "You should act on this as soon as possible," and City Attorney Lance Callis was asked to prepare an ordinance fixing the $22,000 annual salary for the street superintendent.

Salaries of elected officials cannot be changed in mid-term and it is necessary to make any city salary adjustments prior to the election of seven aldermen and a street superintendent in the Granite City municipal election next April 3.

No formal report on the salary issue was made. Bowler said he and members of the Finance Committee—Aldermen Fred Schuman Jr. and Warren Decatur—had "kicked it around a while but had never finalized any decision except that the committee won't recommend the aldermen's salaries be raised."

Alderman Clyde Boyd said, "The way I heard it from others is that the committee is not going to recommend a pay raise for the aldermen, but plans to raise the street superintendent to $22,000."

Bowler said the $22,000 figure had been "talked about."

Schuman remarked that the $22,000 "is within the President's guideline on pay raises and the street superintendent will have to live with that salary four years after he is elected."

On a motion to raise the street superintendent's salary, the aldermen voted 10 to 2 in favor, with the two dissenting votes cast by Aldermen Everett Morien and Ronald Coleman. Two aldermen were absent, Mrs. Margaret Nomm and Glen Sprinkle. Voting yes were Aldermen Sam

Municipal filing

Filing of nominating petitions for aldermanic and trustee seats in Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach will get under way Monday, Jan. 8, with opposition reported developing for virtually every office open to election.

Candidate petitions will be filed with the city clerks of Madison and Venice and with the village clerk in Pontoon Beach through Feb. 13.

Filing continues meanwhile in Granite City in the election of seven ward aldermen and a city street superintendent. The Granite City municipal election will be held April 3 under a state law establishing the first Tuesday of April as the election date in cities having boundaries coextensive to those of the township.

Elections in Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach will be held April 17.

The third Tuesday of April is set by law as the election date for communities located within a township and not having coextensive boundaries.

Park Board elections also are scheduled in April in Granite City and Venice. The Venice Park board balloting will be held April 3 to coincide with the Granite City municipal elections, while the Granite City board election will be held April 17 at the same time as the Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach balloting.

Filing for the Granite City Park Board election also will open Monday. Petitions may be filed with Frank Res, secretary of the Park Board, through Jan. 22.

Voters will choose four aldermen in Venice, all for four-year terms. One of

No shaggy dog story, so how about a cold duck?

"Cold duck." It has convivial connotations during New Year's week. But a cold duck at Long Lake and his frigid friends who reside there throughout the winter also "is in the news."

It seems that wild mallards and other ducks staying at the lake have become somewhat tame due to contact with people. And they aren't so dumb; when it's cold outside, why not "duck" inside for a minute or two to get warm?

That's exactly what a few ducks did this week at a service station at Pontoon Road and Highway 111, waddling indoors when the door was opened and leaving peacefully when it was opened again, after a warning pause indoors.

So, whoever said there couldn't be a story about a cold duck without referring to "a bit of the bubbly"? Oops. Forget the first paragraph.

Limb pickups

Granite City Street Superintendent Lionel Portell announced yesterday that the street department will pick up limbs from Sunday's ice storm, if residents put them at the curbs or in the streets.

"We will not be going into alleys or on private property, unless there is an emergency," Portell said. However, tree limbs on private property may be moved to the curb and will be picked up as soon as possible, he added.

Due to the danger of injury, the use of power saws on slippery ground will be limited. High lifts will be used to hoist most limbs into trucks. Portell said he does not feel the department's chopper would work properly at this time, because of the ice on the limbs.

The superintendent asked everyone to be patient, noting the pickups may take three to four weeks to complete, but said it is impossible to prepare a schedule of limb pickups because weather will dictate how fast the task can progress.

applications for Community Development block grant funds totaling $11,598,610 for the three-year program.

Deadline for filing applications with the Madison County development office expired Friday, and any last minute changes will be made in the program before it is submitted to a public hearing according to Marj Kane, Community Development director.

A public hearing on the finalized list of grant requests will be held Jan. 11 at 7 p.m. in the Madison County Board room in the courthouse at Edwardsville. The requests then will be submitted to the County Board for final action.

Once approved by the County Board, the overall program will be presented to the Illinois State Clearing House and the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council for consideration of eligibility and then will be presented to the U.S. Housing and Urban Development Agency which will approve or reject the requests.

The program must be submitted to HUD by March 1. HUD may take up to 75 days to rule on the projects and fund applications.

As compiled last week, the new three-year development program for District Two, which includes Quad-City municipalities and townships, sets up projects seeking a total of $1,277,300 for the 1979-80 fiscal year beginning next July 1.

These include two projects in Nameoki Township, one calling for a grant of $120,000 to be used for a Nameoki Township-State Park Place Neighborhood Revitalization program, and another grant of $120,000 for a community improvement program in the Cloverleaf and Eagle Park areas of Nameoki Township.

In addition, District Two projects include a request for $562,000 for Granite City to finance an Old Town Neighborhood Revitalization program. Other projects for the first year of the program in this area include $100,000 for a housing rehabilitation program in the city of Madison, and $75,000 for a similar program in Venice Township.

A grant of $150,000 also is requested among District Two projects for improvement of streets in Eagle Park Acres by Venice Township, $100,000 for a Venice Township street and lighting improvement program in the Benjamin Addition, and $50,000 for Venice Township to establish fire protection for Eagle Park and street improvements in the Benjamin Addition.

The District Two (Quad-City) development program for the 1980-81 fiscal year totals $841,600 in grants. Among these projects is a request for a $137,000 grant to assist Chouteau Township residents in paying for sewer tap-on fees necessary to connecting with the new sanitary sewer lines now being built throughout the unincorporated areas.

Other grants sought for the 1980-81 year include $99,600 for Nameoki Township community improvements in Cloverleaf and Eagle Park, $55,000 for

Double cylinder deadbolt lock can hamper burglars

By CATHERINE MAUCK
 Madison County Extension Adviser, Home Economics

If the doors were locked when people leave their homes to go somewhere, burglars could probably be reduced by 50 percent. More than half of all residential burglars walk into homes through unlocked front or other outside entry — doors. Although there is no sure way to keep out all intruders, mounting locks on doors and using them will deter many would-be burglars.

Several different locks are available from lumber yards, hardware stores and locksmiths. It is recommended that consumers purchase and use only deadbolt locks. Deadbolt locks cannot be sprung or jimmied, or unlocked with a credit card. Cylinder and vertical deadbolt locks require a key to open the lock from the outside. But they usually can be opened on the inside by turning the knob.

Double cylinder deadbolts require a key on both sides. If a burglar comes through a window, he will still need a key to carry bulky items — televisions and stereos — out a door secured with a double cylinder deadbolt. For maximum protection, cylinder deadbolts should have a full one-inch, solid-steel bolt or throw; a solid-brass cylinder guard; and solid-brass pin-tumbler cylinders.

It is also recommended that at least two deadbolt locks and an inside chain lock be put on all outside entry doors. The chain lock offers additional protection to persons inside the house. Because there is only one law enforcement officer for every 8,000 people in Illinois, all must help protect themselves from burglars.

Townships to fight Annexation by GC

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer
Twenty-three officials and residents of Nameoki and Chouteau Townships met last night and voted unanimously to attempt to file a lawsuit which would overturn Granite City's annexation of a 427-acre tract of land west of Route 3, which is intended for development of a major industrial park.

the gathering in the Chouteau Township Hall that he has spoken to an attorney who believes the annexation can be challenged on the basis of damage it will do to the tax base of the townships and of the Mitchell and Long Lake Volunteer Fire Departments.

Davis contended there is a provision in the law which forbids annexations which would ruin the income of any taxing body or which would cause extreme taxes to be placed upon the people of a given area so basic services can be provided.

On hand were representatives of both townships, both fire departments, the Mitchell Public Water District, the village of Pontoon Beach and the Chouteau and Venice Levee and Drainage District.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township and host for the meeting, objected to Granite City taking the prime industrial lands from the townships and leaving the residential areas for which the townships must provide basic services.

Sparks said the 427-acre Illinois Power property recently annexed is "only the tip of the iceberg." He said he fears Granite City will soon annex more and businesses along West Chain of Rocks Road to Fun 'n Sun Beach Resort and then will annex the beach, making the city contiguous to a 1,000-acre site owned by Union Electric Co. north of Interstate 270, which will be prime industrial land.

If the city then annexes the Union Electric property, it will be contiguous to a 500-acre plot east of Route 111 which is owned by Illinois Power.

"They will be taking the prime industrial property and leaving little parcels of Chouteau Township out here like a jigsaw puzzle and I don't think we could force Granite City to take them. It's just like they have done with Miracle Manor all these years."

Sparks and Davis both said the townships invested money and work in getting the sanitary sewer project started in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships so growth would occur and the tax base of the townships would increase.

However, because Granite City and Granite City Township are coextensive, by law (sharing identical boundaries), annexations by the city automatically result in annexation by Granite City Township.

One man in the audience said the townships must look toward the future, "or our grandchildren will say we should have fought this back in 1979."

Harry Briggs, trustee of the Long Lake Fire Protection District and a former Nameoki Township supervisor, said when the co-extensive boundaries law was passed for large cities, only about three cities in the state were effected. Since then, Granite City, Alton and numerous other cities throughout the state have grown into that category.

He noted Nameoki Township has been trying, unsuccessfully, for more than 20 years to stop annexations by Granite City and added, "Why quit now?" Sparks said he believes the township can provide the services industries would require if they located here, including adequate police and fire protection. Most large plants have their own security and fire departments and need only supplemental aid for back-up purposes.

Leon Scroggins, attorney for the Mitchell Public Water District, said that when a parcel of property is annexed by a city, the adjoining roadway is automatically annexed, so roadways in the area, including Interstate 270, will not stop future annexations by Granite City.

Several Mitchell firemen in the audience expressed concern that the recent annexation puts portions of West Chain of Rocks Road and Route 3 in Granite City, and may cause insurance problems if the firemen have an accident in those portions.

Chouteau Township Trustee Marion Sparks, a fireman, noted, "It sounds like we have to travel through Granite City now to fight a fire on Chouteau Slough." The firemen indicated they would have their attorneys study the mutual aid pacts of the fire departments to determine if firemen who go into Granite City will have insurance protection.

Attorney Alan Walker, who represents Chouteau Township, gave "a rough estimate" that fighting the recent annexation would cost $300,000 to $500,000 in attorney fees. If it is taken to the Appellate Court level.

Walker recommended that an attorney be selected who has no political affiliations with Granite City and a request be made for a presiding judge in the case from outside Madison County.

Davis indicated that Nameoki Township could not afford to fight the annexation alone, but would join with the other taxing bodies in a suit. He suggested each group meet to determine how much money it can contribute to the lawsuit and get suggestions on the proper attorney to file the suit.

Sparks said he will call a public meeting to see if the people of Chouteau Township feel tax money should be expended for such a fight and then will call another meeting of the taxing bodies to discuss funding of the suit.

Davis said he has been told the townships have up to a year to file the objection to the annexation and noted that should be sufficient time for everyone to put the needed funds in their budgets.

He said it also will allow the question of whether tax funds should be used for the fight to be put before the electors of the townships at the annual town meetings in April, if elector approval is required.

"I think we have to try on this thing. If we can spend several thousand dollars and get a million back, it's well worth it," Davis said.

Sparks emphasized that the townships want to see the proposed industrial park developed and will do everything they can to aid in that development.

"It's just that we want it in Chouteau and Nameoki townships," he noted that Chetco, the pipeline company which built Tanktown and several other industries have located in the township without city services, "and they are operating fine," he noted.

3 cablevision firms voice interest in GC

At least three companies are willing to wire Granite City for sound and pictures, they told the City Council last night. Cable television proposals will be evaluated by the aldermen, who took no action pending their study.

Jones Interchange, which provides in Alton twice the television variety available in St. Louis, proposed to do the same here.

Southwestern Cable TV offered 23 channels, including WPIX-TV of New York City, the U.S. House of Representatives in session and a close community-to-community link with Collinsville and Edwardsville.

Delta Prairie of Taylorville-Litchfield said it could submit a competitive plan after surveying Granite City.

Despite a six percent commission paid by a cablevision firm to the City of Decatur, attributed to a "grandfather clause" in that franchise, all indicated a maximum of three percent of gross revenue would be paid to participating local municipalities under existing Federal Communications Commission regulations.

Construction could start here within a year, it was estimated.

Monthly fees were described as likely to be kept reasonable, since cable services are profitable only if about half or more of the potential customers are willing to sign up. Whether the City Council would control rates, or whether the charges would be left unregulated — or tied to the cost of living — was left subject to negotiations.

Committee Chairman Clyde "Bus" Boyd said seven possible applicants for a local cable television franchise were notified of last night's meeting. Center Communications of Shawnee Mission, Kan., advised the city that this week's severe weather would prevent it from appearing at this time.

Those represented at the City Hall said that once a home television set is connected to a quarter-inch cable, much of the reception interference would be eliminated, council meetings and school sports events could be televised live or on tape, and pay-TV motion pictures and sports attractions could be offered.

With many shift workers in this area, all-night religious programs and movies would be provided as part of the basic cable service, nine aldermen, Mayor Paul Schuler, City Treasurer Nick Petrillo, City Clerk Robert Stevens and Street Superintendent Lionel Portell were told.

for the city to deal with an unknown organizations when it can examine the quantity and quality of our service minutely and conveniently, through a 20- or 30-minute drive.

"We would provide basically the same service as we do in the Alton metropolis. Our subscribers will assure you that the service is excellent and the variety of programming almost unbelievable."

Attending from Southwestern Cable TV, Edwardsville, was its operations vice-president, Harvey Stewart, and President Gerald J. Kazma of GSL Electronics of Pennsylvania. The Canadians operate Colonial Cable TV, Plymouth Meeting, Pa., as well as Southwestern, which will have relay facilities in Maryville.

Stewart distributed copies of a proposed Granite City franchise as well as a brochure outlining proposed channels. He said any advertising revenue would be devoted to community TV access and company-produced, local-origin programming.

It was noted that public meetings in the Collinsville-Edwardsville-Granite City area as well as major athletic events could be shown live, and that school musicals and plays probably would be taped and edited to avoid intermissions and pauses.

The Delta Prairie part owner, a Litchfield resident, failed to identify himself by name and left before the name was recorded by the City Council.

He promised that, if chosen, his firm could have half of the installation task completed within a year. He warned that some who obtain franchises let several years pass without tangible action.

He said there would be a basic charge of $7.40 for either 12 or 23 channels, depending on the franchise requirement.

Horton said Jones proposes 12 channels but that this could be increased to 23 with converters. He offered WGN and WSNS from Chicago, plus Atlanta television station that would be shown after midnight.

He listed Madison Square Garden events and Christian Broadcasting programs. Pay-TV would provide 14 to 20 features a month for another $7.95. Movies would be G, PG and R rated.

Microwave links may be changed in part to satellite communication, Horton related.

Stewart mentioned 23 channels, including WGN Chicago and WPTX New York, with one channel reserved for SIUE. The SIU at Carbondale station would be provided, plus Congress, Madison Square Garden and late-night Atlanta telecasts. Basic rate would be $7 monthly, he said.

All offered to reduce installation fees during an introductory period. All said they would set up an office in Granite City if successful in obtaining a franchise.

Portell files in city race

Lionel Portell, Granite City street superintendent, has filed nominating petitions as a candidate for re-election in the April 3 city balloting.

Portell filed his petitions with City Clerk Robert Stevens Tuesday. Portell is expected to be opposed by Jim Stack, assistant city street superintendent, who now has petitions in circulation.

Also filing in the race for Granite City aldermanic seat was Michael Modrusis, running for alderman in the Seventh Ward. The filing period will end Jan. 29.

Case is ruled not job-related

A 6-2 vote approving a full pension of $1,020 monthly for former Assistant Fire Chief Charles Hileman of Granite City reflects a majority opinion of the Firemen's Pension Board that felony thefts were not job-related.

Voting to grant the pension were City Clerk Robert W. Stevens, City Treasurer Nick Petrillo, retired fireman Robert Harris, Board President George Smolich, Board Secretary Ken Druhe and Fireman Bill Hebert.

The board held that the charges were not job related and, therefore, did not affect Hileman's pension rights. Mayor Paul Schuler and Fire Chief Don Parente, also pension board members, voted against granting the pension.

Prior to the vote, the board heard testimony from police detectives Don Knight and Roy Koberna and from Fireman Gene Mullen. The police identified reports which alleged Hileman received stolen collector's items from Tennessee burglaries. Indicted in September 1977, he later pleaded guilty to three felony counts of theft and retired from the fire department. The board also considered arguments from attorneys for Hileman and the city prior to voting.

Assistant City Attorney

John Papa, who acted as the board's attorney, said the vote "closes the books" on the pension issue.

an airport victory, but the Carter election in 1976 brought new bureaucrats and, before long, a reversal of the decision.

Saunders was convinced that, as long as Illinoisans kept a "low profile," there would be no controversy and airport planning could proceed on a schedule. "It takes two to have a fight," he believed.

But a strategy of outspoken comments, confusing studies and delaying tactics succeeded for opponents of the new airport, despite the fact that Lambert is hemmed-in and, during bad weather, has a second parallel runway too close to the first to be used.

Like "Brigadoon" in the play of that name, airport harmony between Illinois (represented by Governor Ogilvie) and St. Louis (represented by Mayor Cervertes) disappeared and may not return for many years. Neither official is still in public office.

Whether Saunders' strategy was the right one remains to be decided.

Certainly, the estimated ten-year task, if it starts, will be getting under way long after he had hoped to see it in process. He never claimed to be a politician, and politics became heavily involved.

But much detailed planning has been accomplished, and it is his recommendation that the Illinois General Assembly keep the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority alive and its studies up-to-date. Far from being a waste of money, it can be a big saving, he emphasizes.

He even wryly comments that after his experience in Saudi Arabia, he will have even more background from which to provide work or advice on the St. Louis metropolitan project.

One of the factors in the departure, aside from the challenge of three big new airports in the Midwest, is that his dual role with the Authority and as state aeronautics director proved too much of a time burden.

He felt he was doing both jobs justice, but with the loss of most of his leisure time.

Saunders, the director of Dulles and Washington National airports, was selected for the $37,500-a-year post as executive director of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority in November 1970.

His selection was announced at a news conference by Authority Chairman Robert B. Lamkin, Illinois Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and St. Louis Mayor A. J. Cervertes.

Saunders, then 52, had received top professional honors in his field.

The authority, created by the Illinois legislature, was charged with developing a second major airport for the St. Louis area.

During development of the airport, Illinois was to have five members on the authority and St. Louis two. The Missouri membership was to be increased to five when the new field was put into service.

Gov. Ogilvie made these comments on the appointment of Saunders: "The authority's choice of Mr. Saunders from an outstanding group of the nation's top professional aviation men emphasizes the completely non-partisan nature of the authority's task, and I am happy to have the support of Mayor Cervertes in this tremendous effort."

Mr. Saunders has had a distinguished career in airport management and operation, has an intimate familiarity with the Federal Aviation Administration, and enjoys the respect of the top people in our airlines.

"All these qualities — and wide support from the governments, agencies and persons involved in the project — will be necessary to achieve our goal of a modern jetport to serve the future needs of the Illinois and St. Louis areas."

Saunders, then a resident of McLean, Va., was director of the Department of Transportation's bureau of national capital airports, which owns and operates Dulles International and Washington National.

He formerly managed the Raleigh-Durham (N.C.) Airport, the Greater Cincinnati Airport, and Dulles.

He was president of the Aero Club of Washington, past president of the American Association of Airport Executives, and a member of the board of examiners of the latter group.

He was named "man of the year" in 1970 by the Airline Traffic Association, composed of airline executives, and was in charge of the ground force in June 1970 which captured the hijacker of a TWA airliner at Dulles.

FBI and security men shot out the tires of the plane, held by the hijacker for payment of a $100 million ransom. Saunders and his wife, Louise, are the parents of four children.

He said in 1970, "I have no preconceived ideas about this exciting project. But I am happy to be on the frontier of aviation, where the action is. Few challenges can equal the one I will be assuming here."

Ogilvie noted that Saunders "has given us full assurance of his desire to work in the closest harmony with the city of St. Louis and agencies in the area concerned with keeping St. Louis a great jet age aviation center."

Ogilvie added: "His record demonstrates his objectivity and fairness, and his ability to work with the many official and private groups involved in such a large undertaking."

Saunders attended the Universities of Virginia, North Carolina and Minnesota. He is a native of Agawam, Mass.

Plans for development of the new airport were announced here in April 1970 by Cervertes and Ogilvie at a joint news conference. Completion of the project would take at least 10 years, Ogilvie estimated.

the city of Venice to build a new senior citizens center, and $550,000 for the city of Granite City to help finance its share of cost in building the downtown overpass at 19th Street.

The largest amount of grant funds is sought for the third and final year of the program. A total of $1,814,130 is requested for 11 separate projects in Quad-City cities and townships.

Granite City seeks funds for two projects in that year—$250,000 for a street reconstruction program, and another $130,000 for street improvements in the Nameoki area.

Another grant of $200,000 is sought by Chouteau Township to aid in payment of sewer tap-on fees for low-income families. Nameoki Township is requesting $80,000 for an upgrading and improvement program in East Madison. Nameoki Township also is asking $90,000 to make neighborhood improvements in Miracle Manor and Bellemore.

Venice Township has applied for $55,000 to finance land acquisition and construction of a community center and the city of Madison has requested $78,000 for parking lot development in the downtown area.

Also requested by Venice Township is a $150,000 grant to acquire land and build a shopping center mall in Eagle

Park. The third-year program also includes two other requests by Venice Township, one for $105,000 to make street and lighting improvements in the Benjamin Addition and the resurfacing of Logan and Missouri avenues.

Pontoon Beach is asking $236,130 to finance construction of a senior citizen center.

The overall county program, including the requests of all five districts, and for county discretionary projects, includes grant applications for $4,160,480 for the 1979-80 year, $2,633,950 for the 1980-81 year, and $4,804,180 for the 1981-82 year.

these will be to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Thomas Voegelé, alderman of the First Ward. Other Venice aldermen whose terms will expire next year are George Mangiaracino of the Second Ward, George Lewis of the Third Ward and Oscar King of the Fourth Ward.

Venice also will elect a mayor for a two-year term as the result of the resignation of Mayor William "Mike" Eberhardt who announced his retirement for health reasons. Mayor Eberhardt has served two years of the term to which he was elected in 1977.

In Madison, five aldermanic posts will be filled, including that of Ronald Grzywacz, former alderman of the Third Ward who left the council earlier this year following his indictment by a federal grand jury. Others whose terms expire in Madison are Aldermen Paul Ashford of the First Ward, William Gushies, Second Ward, Mike Sikora in the Fourth and Don Gerra in the Fifth.

The Pontoon Beach Village government is sure to undergo a major change as Village Board President Floyd David Moss is not planning to seek reelection and a majority of the board seats will be determined by April balloting.

The term of Village Clerk Mary Warren also is expiring. Trustees expected to seek new terms are Loren Madison, Duane Skinner and Keith Biggs.

Trustee Paul Bennett, who was elected to a four-year term in 1977, will continue on the board, either as a hold-over trustee or as village board president. He has announced he will seek the president post in the April election.

The hold-over trustees are Donald C. Rea and Raymond Gaudette Jr. The Venice Park District will elect two board members. The term of the Rev. John Ratcliff who was appointed to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of Pete Ponce when he moved out of the city expires next spring, requiring election of a commissioner to that seat for a full six-year term.

In addition, an election is required to fill the term of former board member Dale Crawford which is now held by appointment of Calvin Ratcliff. Four years of the term remains.

Other members of the Venice board who do not run are Joan Silas, Valetta Bauder and Mary F. Bauder.

Two regular terms expire this year on the Granite City Park Board, those of Jake Hinterser, now board president, and Robert Patrick. Those who will remain on the board are Barry Loman, Jeff Worthen and George Sykes.

27 fall on ice

Twenty-seven persons were treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital between 2 a.m. yesterday and 2 a.m. today for injuries suffered when they fell on ice, authorities said today.

Those injured included 15 men and 12 women, between the ages of 11 and 70.

Three persons were admitted here and a 41-year-old man who was knocked unconscious in a fall was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, for observation of a head injury.

GOOD DEED

Mr. and Mrs. Albert (Thelma) Goskie, 1520 Fifth St., Madison, operators of Goskie's Market, kept the Madison firemen supplied with hot coffee early Monday morning when they fought fire for several hours near the store, in below-zero weather. A fire department spokesman said the Goskies also gave them new gloves as theirs got wet and froze.

Fire at city street dept.

Fire caused an estimated $4,000 damage to a large metal shed at the Granite City Street Department, 2801 Adams St., at 2:40 p.m. Wednesday.

Firemen said workers were burning materials in a 55-gallon drum outside at the north end of the shed and the metal wall became hot enough to set the wood frame on fire inside. The building, about 30 by 30 feet in size, was used to store lumber and cement.

Damage was estimated at $4,500 to the building and $500 to its contents. Firemen used four pieces of equipment and were on the scene about one hour.

One fireman suffered minor injuries when he slipped and fell on the ice, but he did not require hospital treatment.

PEOPLE

All nine lives have been fun

He spends his days in the warmth of the boiler room and his nights roaming the halls of the massive buildings.

Visitors think that he is just a pet, and a very spoiled one at that. But Morris the cat is master of all he surveys.

For almost 15 years, according to lead custodian Art Achors, Morris, who has been nicknamed "Tiger," has been a friend to the people at Granite City High School South. He has been a special friend to the custodians.

Morris wandered into the boiler room at South those many years ago as a mere kitten. He "eased the joint," as Achors puts it, decided he liked the place, and stayed.

The custodians at South all love Morris and provide him with all of the comforts of home. The kids who attend South also love Morris and come to the boiler room to visit the popular feline. The beautiful, blondish cat serves as mascot, friend and mouse catcher for everyone in the school.

Morris is not all that good at mice catching, according to Russ Johnson, one of the day custodians. "We will have one get into the boiler room every once in a while, but Morris usually just plays with them. He doesn't kill them."

The great tomcat has lots of friends, but Stanley Kromay is his very best buddy. Kromay works at South as the swing boiler man.

Morris seems to know when his friend Stanley is about to arrive, and he stations himself at the boiler room door to wait.

Morris and Stanley have been great friends for some time. As Morris makes his rounds, Stanley follows him. Actually, it is the other way around, but Morris doesn't know that.

The lovable cat is Kromay's pride and joy. He and the feline are inseparable during working hours.

Kromay and Morris have lots to talk about, and the working day goes by quickly for Kromay because he has his friend Morris to keep him company.

The cat doesn't wander the halls while the students are in the building. He prefers to sleep downstairs while the noise and activity fill the halls and classrooms above. After they have gone, Morris will go with Stanley to check everything out.

Johnson, the day custodian, is another one of the fellows Morris likes to follow around. Johnson can call to the cat and the great blond tomcat will walk up to Johnson, hoping to have his back scratched.

Morris is an old man, as cats go, according to Johnson. "He can still move though," he said.

"I remember one time just recently when I accidentally scared him. He must have jumped 10 feet."

Even though Morris still has a lot of energy left, he doesn't use it much during the day. But then, he doesn't have to. He has his friends to feed him and to scratch his back and his belly.

And when Morris leaves his warm place in the boiler room and begins to wander, you know that he is, indeed, the master of his little world.

Morris lets no other animal come around to "bother" his human friends. Dogs and other cats steer clear of him, lest they be attacked and sent scurrying away.

The whole thing works out quite well. Morris has a home and all of the people at school have a special friend.

As Johnson says, "Morris is king of the roost around here, and he knows it. But he makes a nice companion, and who wouldn't like a king for a friend?"

Crewel embroidery lessons to start

The Granite City Park District will offer a series of lessons on crewel embroidery, upon request of a group of women who have participated in other classes offered by the district.

The craft lessons will start Tuesday, Jan. 23, and conclude Feb. 27 at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin avenues.

Classes in the six-week course will be free to residents of the park district, except for the cost of supplies.

Registration for the class is taking place now at the Wilson Park office, with park district residents given first choice to sign up.

GRIST IS ELECTED

Arthur L. Grist, assistant professor of health, recreation and physical education, and special assistant to the vice-president for business affairs at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been elected treasurer of the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency.

Target: Arson-for-hire

By WILLIAM H. WEBSTER

Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation

The FBI is committed to the allocation of investigative, training, and laboratory resources to the growing problem of "arson-for-hire."

Senator John Glenn, in hearings of the Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations, noted that arson-for-hire is not a new phenomenon.

"As residents of older, denser and poorer inner cities can readily testify, the smell of gasoline and the sound of fire engines in the night are all-too-common characteristics of inner city life."

Arson has a direct and frightening effect; people are killed, including dedicated firefighters. Property is destroyed, and insurance premiums for all have to be raised.

While the investigation of arson is primarily the job of our professional fire services and local law enforcement, the FBI can, and does, help fight this battle.

First, the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations statute and Interstate Transportation in Aid of Racketeering-Arson law offer two avenues for the FBI to investigate organized criminal activity, including arson.

We are using these laws: one recent investigation resulted in the conviction and jailing of 10 persons in connection with over 400 arsons.

Another case involved the formation of an association to buy aluminum properties, inflate their insurance value and burn them — six convictions and jail sentences resulted.

Second, our training of local police and our own personnel in arson investigations has been increased — in the case of FBI special agents to meet the increased emphasis on organized arson-for-hire matters. And this training includes participation of the firefighting, prosecutorial and insurance sectors.

Third, the resources of the FBI Laboratory are available to municipal, county and state law enforcement agencies.

Over 1,000 items of evidence in arson cases were examined by us in the last fiscal year alone, all at no charge to the requesting agency, as is the case with all evidence submitted to our laboratory.

Senator Charles Percy, of the same subcommittee, has described arson as "...a heinous, in terms of ruined lives, ravaged property, whole neighborhoods reduced to rubble, and nightmarish remembrances of things that could have been but will be no more."

The Senate has generated new thinking about this

Army 2-year enlistments; education aid is increased

The Department of the Army has announced that, beginning Jan. 2, the Army will test a two-year enlistment for a limited number of enlistees meeting specific criteria. The two-year option also increases available benefits for higher education to qualified men and women. This marks the first time that a two-year enlistment has been available since 1973, when the Army became a totally all-volunteer force.

Soldiers entering under the two-year program may be able to receive up to $7,400 in financial aid for college or vocational school through an enhanced Veterans Educational Assistance Program (VEAP) package, which includes a $3,000 contribution from the Army. Under the basic VEAP, the government contributes $2 to the soldier's educational fund for every dollar the individual contributes.

To be eligible for the basic program, a soldier must contribute between $50 and $75 per month for 12 consecutive months. In addition to these amounts, the Army will place another $2,000 in the education fund of an eligible two-year enlistee.

The individual has ten years from the time of separation from active duty to use the funds.

Eligibility requirements for the two-year enlistment state that applicants be high school diploma graduates, score in the upper mental categories on the Army's enlistment examination, and enlist for one of about 40 combat-related occupational specialties.

The Lighter Side

My 'restful' vacation

Just got home and I am an absolute wreck. Whoever said that vacations were a good way to catch up on one's rest was nuts.

There are so many things that you do while on vacation that you would put off if you were at home. The idea of resting often doesn't occur to you until you fall in a heap upon arriving home.

That is the way it went for me. For five glorious days, I tried to jam a year's worth of activities into as little time as possible. I didn't want to miss anything, you know.

Just getting ready to go made me want to stay home. Empty suitcases don't exist at my house. Every bag I own is a storage place for all of the things I don't need right now.

So, the first thing I had to do, after dragging the tattered suitcase and the things I hid behind, was to unpack.

You would not believe the amount of stuff that I had managed to get out of sight. By the time I was finished, I had great piles of things all over the house, none of which I intended to take with me.

Just about the time that I began to feel like enjoying myself, I found that the boys were out of socks.

I realized right then that I was not going to leave the house in very good condition. I realized too that the mountains would be waiting for me when I returned.

But the suitcases were empty and waiting to be packed. My entire family seemed to disappear as I began looking for clothes to take on our little adventure. I found little in the drawers, of course; most of what my family would need was in the laundry basket.

I spent the next four hours washing clothes, something I would have put off if I had been any way in the world, but there was no other way.

There were a million details to see to and the family was still in hiding, so I ran around like a fool until finally, about 7:30 that evening, we were ready to start out.

The trip itself was relatively uneventful, since we traveled in the dark. If you have ever taken a 400-mile-plus drive at night, then you know that the only thing more boring might be a train ride of a television show that you didn't like the first time.

My husband did the driving and — if it had been up to him — we would have gone the entire distance without a stop. Fortunately for the kids and me, the car uses great quantities of fuel and after about three hours we were forced by its demands to stop.

I had fortified myself for the ordeal of the trip with about seven cups of coffee and spent most of the trip in great discomfort. None of my pleading for a nice leisurely drive, with lots of stops, was heard. We had to make Coffeyville, Kansas, before midnight.

We rolled in to my in-laws' house at 2 a.m. They had been in bed since 9 and were raised only by our beating on all of the windows and doors.

Shortly thereafter, I fell gratefully into bed. So went the night before the first day of my vacation.

I spent the next day getting over the trip. Just about the time that I began to feel like enjoying myself, I found that the boys were out of socks.

I spent a couple of hours with Grandma's washer and dryer and decided that I'd better get out of the house.

My husband took me out to lunch. That was nice. Then he took me all over his hometown to see his old friends, all of whom were home for the holidays. By the end of the day, I fell into bed, exhausted again.

The next day was spent doing what I wanted to do. I did some shopping and took my husband's grandmother out to lunch. I told her that I would be back the next day to pick her up and take her over to my in-laws' house.

As my luck goes, so went the car. I arrived to pick Grandma up and the car quit. The day was shot as far as I was concerned.

When I finally did get the car going, with the help of my father-in-law and an irate husband, I was ready to go home, cover my head and never see the light of day again.

The rest of my vacation went much the same way, running and trying to relax, and hoping to avoid trouble.

Next year, it is going to be different.

I think I have learned a lesson about the whole idea of vacations. They are not for rest and relaxation as I had thought. They are more of an exercise in futility. The harder I try to get away from it all, the closer it all comes to me.

Each year, it is going to be different. I intend to spend my next vacation at home, alone. I will send the family off to Grandma, and the dog off to the kennel, and I will be sure that no one knows where I am.

Then I will rest, or paint the garage, or scrub the carpet or something.

Boy, that will be great, for a little while, until I don't hear the boys yelling or my husband stomping around.

Then I will have to join them because, without them, a vacation is just empty time.

Consumer guide to state services

Governor James R. Thompson has announced the publication of a State of Illinois Information Directory designed to serve as a consumer guide to state government services.

"For the first time, Illinois citizens have an easy-to-use guide to state government services."

The directory identifies state agencies or departments which can provide information and help for today's concerned consumers," Gov. Thompson said.

The free, pocket-sized directory, which is available in both English and Spanish, briefly describes what each of 38 state agencies and departments does and indicates whether consumer contact can be made by phone, letter or in person.

The booklet was published by the Governor's Office of Inter-Agency Cooperation, which includes a staff of caseworkers whose task is to answer questions, assist in resolving complaints, and guide citizens to appropriate state government agencies.

The agency also maintains a Spanish "hotline."

More than 35,000 copies of the directory will be distributed through state agencies, schools, libraries and consumer and community groups.

In addition, copies are available by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Office of Inter-Agency Cooperation, Room 2010, 160 N. LaSalle, Chicago, or by calling 312-793-2754 or the Spanish hotline, 312-793-2190.

UNIQUE SINGING GROUP. "Letters of Life" of Dallas, Tex., who sing the scriptures direct from the Bible, will appear at the First Assembly of God Church at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 10. At left is Mr. and Mrs. Don (Faith) Dunlap. At right are Mr. and Mrs. Fred (Sharon) Meeks.

'Higher Goals' church theme

"Higher Goals" is the theme for the week-long annual prayer and fasting emphasis at the First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue from Monday, Jan. 8, through Sunday, Jan. 14.

According to Pastor C. Dale Edwards, the church has a tradition of beginning the new year with a special week and the theme emphasizes the both the church and individuals can grow and achieve.

The prayer room at the church will be open to the public every day from 6 a.m. until 6 p.m.

On Wednesday, Jan. 10, the "Letters of Life" quartet from Dallas, Tex. will present a musical program. The group, according to Pastor Edwards, simply opens the Bible and begins singing the scripture.

A prayer breakfast will be held at the church at 9 a.m. Friday, Jan. 12.

A theme for each day has been named: Monday will be prayers for an individual; Tuesday, new moves in the Holy Spirit; Wednesday, new visions making personal growth possible; Thursday, prayers for the community; Friday, prayers for church leadership and Saturday, prayers for the nations of the world.

JEWELRY TAKEN
An undetermined amount of jewelry was stolen during a burglary at the home of Jacqueline Ishum, 2301 Independence Drive, which was discovered Tuesday.

The victim said she left her home Jan. 1 due to a power failure and returned to find someone broke a window, crawled through it and ransacked her home. Footprints in the snow indicated at least two persons went from the home to a vehicle in the alley.

Caravan going to 'March for life'

"Pro-lifers" are gearing up for the sixth annual March for Life and lobbying activities in Washington, D.C., marking the date of the 1973 U.S. Supreme Court decision that legalized abortion.

The march and rally on the steps of the Capitol have been held on Jan. 22 each year since that decision was handed down by the high court.

Arrangements have been made for a caravan of chartered buses to transport Missouri and Illinois pro-lifers. This will include visits with their senators and congressmen.

The bi-state group, representing this area's pro-life sentiment, will seek further support from legislators for a Human Life Amendment to the U.S.

Constitution, to reverse the high court's decision.

The delegation will include members of Missouri Citizens for Life, Belleville Area Right to Life, St. Louis Archdiocese Pro-Life Committee, Belleville Diocese Pro-Life Committee, Illinois Federation for Life, Alton Right to Life, Nurses for Life (Missouri and Illinois chapters), Lawyers for Life, Doctors for Life, Birthright, the National Youth Pro-Life Coalition, Red Bud Right to Life and Clinton County Citizens Concerned for Life.

The March for Life will begin at 12 noon Monday, Jan. 22. The marchers have projected that 100,000 persons will assemble in the Ellipse across from the White House, march past the White House, and go up Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol.

Congressmen and other pro-life speakers will be heard on the west steps of the Capitol.

Round-trip fare will be $65 excluding meals. The buses will leave from the steps of the Gateway Arch on Wharf Street at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 21, and will return at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 23. Reservations are guaranteed before Jan. 10.

Late reservations will be accepted on a space-available basis. For reservations, Quad-Cityans may call 314-544-3212 (St. Louis); 314-381-8147 (St. Louis); 235-3520 (Belleville); 549-4249 (Carlyle); or 282-2579 (Red Bud).

51,000 auto deaths in '78—without air bags

More than 51,000 Americans died in traffic accidents in 1978—1,500 more than 1977—according to the Highway Users Federation. An immediate response must be made, "Why isn't anybody doing anything about it?"

After more than a decade of effort by concerned corporations, citizen groups and individuals, something is being done, authorities say. Starting in 1982, a safety requirement for passive restraints, designed to protect occupants without any action on their part, will start to appear on cars.

"The struggle for the safest system is not over. There are basically two types of passive restraints: passive seat belts and the air bag," said Jack Martens, automotive engineer. "We believe the air bag is the best available passive restraint system, even though controversy still lingers."

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) estimates that air bags could save 12,000 lives and hundreds of thousands of injuries a year if all cars were equipped with them.

When a car hits a fixed object at 12 mph or more, the abrupt stop causes the sensors to activate the air bags. As they inflate, the bags open up from the steering wheel hub and instrument panel to form soft pillows between the occupants and the dashboard of the car.

The cushions are fully inflated, and actually begin deflating, in about 1-25th of a second. The process occurs so rapidly that if you were to blink your eyes, you would miss the air bag inflation completely.

To minimize the force of the rebound from the bag, there are vents which allow the gas to escape even as the bag is inflating. The process is called comparable to striking and further deflating a leaking beach ball.

"Air bag support is not unfounded. Air bags and their various components have been tested more exhaustively than any other standard automotive safety device currently on the market. Laboratory experiments simulating all practical real world conditions and more than a half-billion miles of vehicle travel have proven its reliability," Martens said.

Tests by the U.S. Air Force, the Department of Transportation, auto manufacturers and insurance companies have provided evidence that air bags can prevent or reduce injury and death in frontal impacts better than any other system, officials say. The bags are ready to save lives and prevent injuries.

Housing study Ok'd for Venice

Authority to proceed with a housing study in Venice by W. T. Thomas and J. St. Louis was given Tuesday night by the Venice City Council.

To be studied is the feasibility of building 137 housing units on the city-owned property (8.9 acres) at the intersection of Klein and Blount streets, formerly owned by John Manville Corp.

The study, which will cost $6,000, will be paid for by Madison County Community Development funds.

According to Thomas, the housing development would consist of 27 two-bedroom units and 110 three-bedroom family units.

Thomas estimated the units would take about six acres of land, leaving approximately three acres for further development. Possibly the construction of senior citizen center.

If the study proves favorable, private money would build the units and the property would be sold by the city to the developers at a price determined by the Federal Housing and Urban Development HUD.

The city would have no obligation for the operation of the project because it would be privately owned.

Thomas noted that the city also would be paid annual estate taxes for the property.

The new housing would be primarily for low-income families and those on fixed incomes.

Thomas said families that live in the units would pay one-third of their income toward rent with the balance of the rent subsidized by the federal government.

Student play selected for competition

A student play by the department of theater and dance at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be included in American College Theater Festival regional competition. William Vilhauer, department chairman, said this week that "A Company of Wayward Saints," presented on campus in December, was one of six plays selected for the festival at Viterbo College in LaCrosse, Wis., Feb. 8-11. Twenty-four colleges and universities submitted plays to be considered for the regional competition. Winners at the regional level will advance to national competition in Washington, D.C., later this year.

Five-year prison term

Mark Kevin Jones, 22, of 2256 Washington Ave., has been sentenced to serve five years in prison after pleading guilty to involuntary manslaughter. Jones had been charged with murder in the Oct. 14 fatal shooting of Marlin Hutchinson, 39, of 1216 Meridian Ave., at an apartment in the 2200 block of Washington Avenue. The murder charge was reduced to involuntary manslaughter in return for the guilty plea. Circuit Judge Harold R. Clark pronounced sentence in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville.

Tree of Lights drive extended to Sunday

The Salvation Army Tree of Lights appeal to underwrite the Christmas gift giving program still is $1,000 short of its $25,000 goal.

Bruce Mort, drive chairman, said the campaign has been extended through the coming weekend to try to raise sufficient donations to cover expenses of the Christmas baskets of food, toys and clothing distributed to needy families in this area. The Salvation Army accepted 517 applications for aid in December, helping a total of 1,789 persons. Donations may be taken in person to the Salvation Army Center, 3007 E. 23rd St., or mailed to: Salvation Army Tree of Lights Post Office Box 338, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

Final payment to state on evaded racing taxes

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott says the taxpayers of Illinois have just received over two million dollars as the final payment in a multimillion dollar tax case which was decided in favor of the state by the Illinois Supreme Court in 1973.

The check totals $2,004,174 and represents the final one million dollar judgment payment plus interest which has accrued on the money from 1966.

In 1973, Scott sued the Arlington Park-Washington Park Race Track Corp., a division of the Madison Square Garden Corp., for evading the Illinois horse racing privilege tax at Arlington Park.

The suit charged that during the 1966 through 1972 racing seasons at Arlington Park, Chicago Thoroughbred Enterprises evaded its full tax liability by creating two artificial racing divisions and applying for multiple licenses.

The set-up reduced the taxes owed because it applied to the graduated tax rates then in effect. Chicago Thoroughbred was owned by Mrs. Marge Everett and was sold to the Madison Square Garden Corp.

In November 1973, the Illinois Supreme Court held that the licensing scheme was improper, and that taxes had been illegally evaded. It ordered Arlington Park Race Track to pay $5,580,555 in delinquent taxes to the state over a five-year period.

The court also ordered the track to pay interest on the judgment amount at six percent per year. As soon as the judgment was issued, $642,988 held in a protest fund was paid immediately to the state treasury.

Checks for $1 million were turned over to the state through Scott in 1974, 1975, 1976 and 1977. The final payment brings the total collected to $6,547,142.

'Music and Motion' benefit band concert

The Granite City High School North Pep Band, the "Steel City Belles," the national award-winning North Pom Pom Squad and the North Guard Flag and Rifle Squad will perform in a benefit concert Thursday, Jan. 18, at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium at GCHS South.

The benefit concert is titled "Music and Motion." Tickets, $2 for adults and $1 for students, may be purchased from any North band student.

Proceeds of the concert will help fund the uniform drive under way by the North Band Boosters.

"This concert gives the students a chance to participate in helping to raise the needed funds for the summer band uniforms," Band Booster Chairman Ruth Jorgensen said.

The Steeler band has had to curtail participation in summer civic activities due to uncomfortable conditions caused in hot weather by the present uniforms, according to Harold Stoker, president of the North Band Parents Association.

Grooms New Year, shoots own foot

David Hill, 24, of 4418 Nameok Hill, was ready to welcome the New Year by discharging a .357 caliber magnum revolver in the air, when the weapon accidentally discharged and he shot himself in the right foot. Hill was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital and admitted at 12:10 a.m. Monday.

VENICE FIRE

Fire destroyed the mobile home of Maurice Williams, 1113 Calhoun St., Venice, at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday. Firemen were recalled to the scene at 1:47 a.m. until 2:17 a.m. Wednesday when the fire rekindled. Cause of the fire is undetermined and value of the mobile home has not been set. Venice firemen said the ice conditions made fighting the fire difficult.

'Witch' has a birthday

LLOLLOPP LOUIE and Gertrude wish everyone "Wonderful birthdays." And all the others agree, "Happy days." Even Repulsive and Captain Pot, who have been invited to join the joy and happiness on Birthday Island in this student

The Granite City High School North Speech Department Peppermint Players have toured elementary schools with a Children's Theater production for the sixth year. They tour in both fall and spring.

The current play, "A Witch's First Birthday," is a 25-minute show.

"Gertrude" is a little witch who has never had a birthday. Then, one day, she receives a magic birthday card which will lead her to Birthday Island and the King of Birthdays.

But Gertrude is sad, because all witches are sad. And she must be happy before she can meet the King.

So, Gertrude learns to laugh and sing and dance with the help of Lollipop Louie, the clown, and his friends: Jack-in-the-Box, Doray Mee, the country singer, Snow Queen, the disco dancer, and Stan Straight, a handsome soldier.

While this is going on, Gertrude, Lollipop Louie and the others are being pursued by Repulsive, the queen of the witches, and Pot, captain of the witch's magic brew. These two would like nothing more than to put an end to all birthdays everywhere.

There is plenty of excitement when Repulsive finally catches up with Gertrude on Birthday Island and almost succeeds with her evil plan.

Members of the cast are: Lollipop Louie, the clown — Mark Belleville.

Repulsive, queen of the witches — Brenda Soden.

Pot, captain of the witch's magic brew — Eric Disney.

Gertrude, a little witch — Marilyn Ostresh.

Snow Queen, the disco dancer — Tami Palmer.

Jack-in-the-Box — Joe Failoni.

Stan Straight, a soldier — Brian Patterson.

Doray Mee, a famous country singer — Vicki Price.

And stage manager — Rudy Votoupal.

Mitchell, Maryville, Lake and Parkview Schools were visited.

Leads of the Peppermint Players are the Peppermint Girl and Peppies. They introduce the play to the elementary school children.

The Peppermint Players are students who enroll in the Children's Theater course. Director of the Peppermint players is Dr. Goni Michaeloff, Speech Department chairman at North High.

2 men face prison terms

Billy Joe Castle, 25, of 2437 Denver St., and Billy Wayne Johnson, 26, of 4708 Kirkpatrick Homes, have been sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court to serve two years in prison after both pleaded guilty to unlawful use of a weapon.

Charges of armed violence and reckless conduct against them were dismissed in return for the guilty pleas.

Circuit Judge Horace Calvo pronounced sentence.

Castle and Johnson allegedly were involved in an Aug. 10 disturbance at Sieb's Tavern, 2422 Nameok Road, in which two men allegedly exchanged gunfire. Johnson was shot in the right thigh during the shootout.

GC authorizes first step in home loan plan

A resolution authorizing Mayor Paul Schuler and City Clerk Robert Stevens to enter into an agreement with a bond underwriting firm to map details of a home mortgage funding program was approved by the Granite City Council Tuesday night.

Arvil Taylor, administrative aide to Mayor Schuler, told the aldermen the action provides the first definite step toward preparation of a detailed program that later would be submitted to the council members for approval.

Alderman Sam Whitmer asked if the resolution in any way would prevent a general discussion of the program by the council members before any decision is reached to go ahead with the program.

Taylor explained an agreement between the city and a bond underwriter was an organization step necessary to preparation of the plan so that it could be presented for action by the council.

A plan advanced to city officials calls for issuance of a multi-million-dollar bond issue from which home mortgages would be funded at a percentage rate lower than that of the regular market at the time the loans are made.

No definite amount has been set for such a bond issue, although a figure of $10 million has been used as "an example," Taylor said.

Taylor has recommended that any program set up for participation by Granite City should provide that residents making up to $40,000 per year would be eligible to apply for mortgage loans. While the maximum salary for participants would be set at $40,000, mortgages would be made available up to a maximum of $80,000.

Melvin Wiesman becomes judge

Melvin Wiesman, 39, St. Louis County, the son of the late Dr. Irvin Wiesman of Granite City, was sworn in Tuesday as one of the youngest circuit judges in Missouri.

Judge Wiesman was appointed by Missouri Governor Joe Tinsdale and was sworn in during ceremonies Tuesday in the St. Louis County Courthouse in Clayton.

A reception at the Top of the Sevens Restaurant in Clayton, followed the ceremonies.

The new circuit judge has served as a magistrate since being appointed 13 years ago by Governor Warren Hearnes. At the age of 26, he was one of the youngest magistrates in the state.

Judge Wiesman was reared in Granite City and graduated from Granite City High School before attending Washington University, St. Louis, to earn his law degree.

His mother, Mrs. Esther Wiesman, resides in Creve Coeur. Mr. Melvin Wiesman and his wife, Martha, have two children — a boy and a girl.

Susan Castle, coordinator of laboratory operations for ERTC, said the workshop is aimed at personnel responsible for the daily operation and maintenance of solid waste handling and disposal systems.

Sessions will include group discussions, audio-visual aids and field trips to solid waste handling facilities where possible. Credit for the workshop totals 2.1 continuing education units from SIUE, plus 2.1 certification credit points from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Pre-registration is required for each workshop, which is limited but available on a first-come basis. Fees are $20, including all course materials but not meals, housing or transportation.

Major shift to community-based emotional counseling

Mental Health care in Illinois has shifted dramatically toward community-based programs in the last 10 years, with 85 percent of today's total mental health and developmental disabilities population now receiving state care in their own communities.

That trend away from institutions is sharply underscored in a special close-up look at mental health — now the state's fifth largest spending program — in the current monthly fiscal report released by Comptroller Michael J. Bakalis.

The special report spotlights major changes in the state's mental health and developmental disabilities programs since the 1969-70 fiscal year, when the new state income tax was being implemented to expand Illinois state revenues.

Major findings and trends in the special report: —In the last 10 years, one-fifth of all mental health spending was shifted from institutional care to smaller community care programs.

—Appropriations for community-based care increased ninefold during the decade. Reflecting that trend, the client population in the state mental health institutions decreased by 23,949 between June 30, 1970, and June 30, 1978, while the number of clients in community-based programs almost quadrupled, rising from 35,874 in 1970 to a 1978 total of 134,134.

—The cost of mental health care has risen rapidly, far exceeding the rate of inflation. Annual appropriations for care at state institutions, for example, climbed from $5,668 per client in fiscal year 1970 to $15,825 per client in FY 1979 — almost tripled in a single decade.

—Does the community care concept save funds? By fiscal 1979, the cost per client receiving state institutional care had risen to 21 times the cost per client receiving community mental health care.

—The shift to community care programs has sharply reduced usage of state institutional facilities. Mankato Mental Health Center is cited as one of the most under-utilized, now operating at only 17 percent of its planned capacity of 5,800 residents.

Looking to the overall fiscal condition of the state, Illinois' bill-paying capacity is steadily improving.

The state's average daily balance in the general funds was $232 million during the first five months of this fiscal year, $105 million better than the same period last year, an 83 percent gain.

Revenues are still running comfortably ahead of spending.

General fund revenues are up 10.7 percent (or $262 million) over the first five months of FY 1978, while spending by the state increased 8.2 percent (or $195 million) for the same fiscal period.

There also is a significant improvement in the state's unemployment trust fund, now up $133 million over last year.

Arrest follows shooting of car

John E. Hartley, 36, of 1428 Iowa St., was charged with criminal damage to property and discharging a firearm in the city limits after the auto of James C. Stuart, 3001 E. 23rd St., was shot by a shotgun in front of Stuart's home at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. Stuart alleged he recognized the man who fired the shotgun blast at the car and police arrested Hartley a short time later. Eleven pellets struck the side of the car, damaging it.

FACES 2 CHARGES

Dennis R. Hand, 25, of 1501 Edwardsville Road, was charged with driving too fast for conditions and having a suspended driver's license after his car struck a traffic sign at 21st Street and Monroe Avenue Tuesday.

PLEDGING STRONG LEADERSHIP, Donald D. Patrick addresses those attending the Pontoon Progress Party's wine and cheese party Tuesday evening in the village. Patrick and Village Trustee Paul Bennett will vie for the village board president's post being vacated by Floyd David Moss, who does not plan to seek re-election. (Press-Record Photo)

Some teabags unearned Derr given

Area legislators, even those not involved with the recent $8,000 per year pay raise for the Illinois Senate and House members, are receiving tea bags as a protest to the raise.

Among those who have reported receiving tea bags in the mail are State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) who was not in the legislature when the pay raise was voted, and State Rep. Everett Steele (R-Granite City), who was among those who voted against the raise.

A session of the legislature to reconsider the raise, or at least the size of it, is set for tomorrow in Springfield. State Sen. Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville), who voted in favor of the increase, has indicated he will be receptive to efforts to reduce the size of the increase, but State Rep. Jim McPike (D-Alton) has said he will support the $8,000 raise and voted for it.

State Rep. Joe Lucco (D-Edwardsville), who is leaving the legislature after a narrow defeat in the November general election, was among those who voted against the raise.

10-year jail term

John R. Derr, 20, of 2037 Illinois Ave., has been sentenced to serve 10 years in prison after having been found guilty by a jury of aggravated battery.

Derr allegedly stabbed Gary Lewis, 23, of 2026 Bryan Ave., about 37 times with a knife in Derr's apartment Aug. 14. Lewis is recuperating from his wounds following surgery.

The jury found a co-defendant in the case, Tommy Hughes, 21, of 2717 Roosevelt Ave., innocent of the same charge.

Faces 2 charges

Darron L. Stafford, 18, of 2224 Dewey Ave., was arrested at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday and was charged with criminal trespass to property and with theft.

Officials of the Illinois-American Water Co. alleged Stafford drove his car on their property at 23rd Street and Logan Avenue without permission and his car became stuck in the snow and ice.

Police also alleged he had stolen some gasoline from a church bus the same evening.

that our village can take its place with dignity and pride with our surrounding communities of Granite City, Madison, Venice and Mitchell.

"Leadership that our community will be represented in the dealings of Quad-City affairs in such functions as the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and the United Way. How can our community gain the services of these organizations if no one is there to represent us?"

"I seek leadership that will inspire the village board members to meet regularly with a quorum, instead of the poor record they now must claim."

"Eventually, change and leadership will bring progress—progress that will encourage new business and growth to our village. New business will bring more revenue, and more revenue can bring more and better services to the people of our community."

"I seek progress that will bring growth to our village. The tide of time is running against us and time has not been our friend. If we do not begin to grow, we will find ourselves swallowed and engulfed by those communities around us and our village will die."

"I seek progress towards a city that can gain its own autonomy by producing and recruiting such services as post offices, banks, parks and recreational facilities, doctors' offices and other services that we now travel to other surrounding communities to receive."

"The next four years will be the most important years in the village history, we will either grow and prosper or remain stagnant and die. The present village board has recently hired a St. Louis consulting firm—without public bids—one that makes money when the village spends money. They have hired the consulting firm to do some of the duties they were elected to do. What great projects will be announced to the people of the village in the next three months until election? I ask the public to beware of such projects."

"As we enter this most important time of our village, I do not wish to live in a town where one brother could be the village president, one brother the chief of police, a cousin a village trustee and a cousin-in-law another village trustee. This village government belongs to all the people of Pontoon Beach, not one family, not one political machine, not one clique of friends."

"I promise that I will not quit the village board when things get tough or politically hot and will not quit fighting in this election until the last vote is counted on April 17. I owe this pledge to our community, the people who asked me to run and the more than 150 and more citizens who signed petitions asking me to be a candidate," Patrick concluded.

Holiday party of Pack 103

Santa paid his annual visit to Pack 103 at their Christmas party at St. Margaret Mary School. The monthly meeting was opened with the flag ceremony by the Webelos.

Assistant Cubmaster Larry Beyer Jr. presented the Cub Scouts and Webelos with their achievement awards.

Cub Scouts receiving awards were Matt Coury and Skippy Kalipe, Bobcat badge; Jeff Fedora, Wolf badge, gold arrow and three yellow bows; Matt Edwards, two silver arrows; Scott Strack, three silver arrows, one red head; Danny Miller, Wolf badge, one gold arrow.

Webelos who received awards were Tony Zikovich, citizen; Larry Beyer Jr., artist, showman, sportsman; Philip Valencia, artist, citizen; Joey Mangiacino, showman, sportsman; Mike Legate, aquanaut, artist, citizen, sportsman; Jimmy Chomko, artist, citizen, sportsman; George McLaren, artist, sportsman; Timmy Tegat, showman, sportsman; Danny Habermehl, artist; Scott Ebner, sportsman; Greg Barnett, artist.

Children, parents and guests joined in the singing of Christmas carols. Joey Father Edward Groesch, accompanied on the organ by Sister Marilyn Therese. Santa arrived with gifts and candy for the children after the songfest.

Entertainment was provided by the Cub Scouts who told the true meaning of Christmas by telling the story of the birth of Jesus, and the Webelos sang "Little Drummer Boy."

Refreshments were served and the meeting was closed. The next Pack meeting will be Jan. 30, when the pinewood derby will be held.

Harlan TV documentary

"Harlan County, U.S.A." Barbara Kopple's 1976 Academy Award-winning best documentary feature will air on Channel 9 at 10:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 5, and at 10:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 6.

The probing documentary chronicles efforts of 180 Kentucky coal-mining families to win a United Mine Workers of America contract.

After the miners voted to join the union and the parent company of the mine refused to sign a UMW contract, a strike ensued. This led to the first major conflict in Harlan County since bloody organizing battles in the 1930s when five men were killed.

The film, shot on location, follows the strike through confrontations on the picket line with strikebreakers and police; picketing by striking miners and their wives on Wall Street and at the company's annual stockholders' meeting; and, ultimately, the murder of a young striker by a company foreman.

The viewer comes to know the 180 families, and the emotions and changes which occurred during their year-long strike. The voices of the women, moreover, give a new perspective to the situation, TV critics say. For the first time, the women of Harlan County take an active and militant part in their plight. Finally, the viewer can realize that the strike is only a year out of a lifelong struggle.

"Harlan County, U.S.A. is a fascinating and moving work," noted Richard Eder in the New York Times. "Its strength lies chiefly in its ability to illuminate the particular frightfulness and valor of coal mining. It makes it clear just why coal miners can never be rightly treated as less than a very special case."

60 days in jail

William Ruff, 45, of 506 State St., Madison, was sentenced to serve 60 days in the Madison County Jail and two years of probation and to make $140 in restitution after Ruff pleaded guilty in Madison County Circuit Court to two counts of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance.

Ruff was among eight persons arrested in a coordinated series of arrests staged by the Division of Investigation (DOI) of the Illinois State Police in April, 1978. It was alleged he delivered drugs to an undercover agent April 20.

The sentence was pronounced by Circuit Judge Horace Calvo in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville.

Hits parked car

Kimberly Ellen Ashenbrenner, 19, St. Louis, was injured when her northbound auto went out of control on Route 3 south of Rock Road and struck the parked car of Maria Gardner, Hartford, at 11:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Police reported there was extensive damage to both cars. The driver was taken by Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was released after emergency room treatment.

Tabernacle program Sunday

The worship musical "Greater Is He," written by Lanny Wolfe and Don Marsh, will be presented Sunday 7 p.m. at Tri-City Park Church, 10000 W. 12th Avenue and Maryville Road.

The musical will be presented by the sanctuary choir and directed by the Rev. Loren Gerdner, and will include an orchestration accompaniment and the use of colored lighting.

"The musical was written to be 'a joyful affirmation of His Greatness,'" unfolds a wide picture of God, His creation and redemption plan, and most of all, His great love for mankind, according to Pastor Gordon H. Nelson.

Included in the musical are songs by Lanny and Marietta Wolfe, such as "Jesus Made a Believer," "I Am a Christian," "I Love Him," "Only Jesus Can Satisfy Your Soul," "Greater Is He That is in Me," and "Surely the Presence of The Lord is in Me." The musical presentation also will include solos, narrations and personal testimonies by various church members.

Pastor Nelson, has invited the public to "join with us in a joyful affirmation of the wonder of our great God, as we sing and praise His name and triumphantly proclaim His greatness so that all may be drawn to Him."

With kidnaps and lying gorillas, it was a newsy year for wildlife

Nineteen seventy-eight was a newsy year for the human race. It had its share of wars, floods, earthquakes, inflation and other untoward events.

It was also a big news year for wildlife, according to a survey by the National Wildlife Federation. For example, it was the year in which a tiny fish, the snail darter, stopped construction of a $120 million dam in Tennessee. And a diamond back rattlesnake, concealed in a mailbox as a murder weapon, bit and nearly killed a Los Angeles attorney.

It was a year in which hundreds of other animals made headlines. A few of them made the news tickers by getting kidnapped—a 75-pound Galapagos turtle named Little Rock that was whisked from a Brooklyn motel room; a large octopus that was eventually abandoned on the floor of a San Francisco ladies' room; a batch of snakes valued at $5,000 abducted from a Glen Burnie, Md., reptile house; and nine pigs.

Well, it was originally one pig, stolen from a farm in Washington County, Mo., but by the time she reached St. Louis she had produced eight piglets.

There were also a lot of animals that were hardly mentioned that it's a man's world: Willie the Whale, who strayed into port at Cherbourg, France, and nearly blocked harbor traffic for five days before dying of starvation.

Also, thousands of fish who were poisoned in Dijon, France, when a disgruntled employee poured $600,000 worth of his boss's fine burgundy into village sewers; a deer who crashed through a Beltsville, Md., woman's bathroom window and landed in her bathtub; and a colony of eager beavers who were trapped and relocated when their dams flooded pastures, fields and gardens around Moscow, Idaho.

Some critics made news by making unusual adjustments to man's presence. A city-wise fox set up housekeeping under the bleachers in Yankee Stadium. And in Baltimore, Md., a peregrine falcon, normally a bird of the wilderness, settled on the 32nd floor of a downtown building. Her new neighbors named her Scarlet.

The animal which behaved most like a human in 1978? It would have to be Koko, a 130-pound California gorilla who's learned 275 "words" in the sign language used by the deaf. Koko learned to lie, insult and swear in sign language—all human failings.

People came up with some new ways to make a living with the assistance of animals. A Virginia man hit the road with Victor, a wrestling bear. Victor never loses, and celebrates his wins by licking the faces of his prostrate human challengers. In England, a petshop began selling cockroaches. The shop owner said they make ideal pets because they don't eat much and you can't get vacation and leave them on their own.

In an attempt to keep coyotes from preying on ranchers' sheep, biologists in western Canada reported they are trying to convince coyotes that sheep just don't taste good. They're injecting them with lithium chloride and then leaving them for the dog-like wild animals. The lithium chloride doesn't kill the coyotes; it just gives them an upset stomach.

In Washington, D.C., government scientists announced they're trying a different tactic. They're attempting to train a shaggy-haired Hungarian dog, the Komondor, to protect sheep from coyotes.

In preliminary tests, they said, the hulking 120-pound watchdogs—which can cost up to $500—intimidated caged coyotes simply by walking past them.

If the tests succeed, the use of Komondors may turn out to be the shaggy dog story of 1979.

Directory aid charge after 8 calls monthly

A plan that permits eight free calls a month to director assistance for most home and business phone users goes into effect with January telephone bills, Illinois Bell reminded its customers this week.

Counting of directory assistance calls will begin on each customer's billing date, beginning with bills dated today, Jan. 4.

Bills of Jan. 4 through Feb. 1 will carry a 25-cent credit to reflect savings from reduced directory assistance calls.

Bills of Feb. 4 and thereafter will carry both the credit and any charges for calls over the eight-call allowance. Calls over the allowance will be charged at 20 cents each.

There will be no charge for calls to directory assistance outside the area code the caller is in, or for directory assistance calls from hospitals, hotels, motels and coin phones.

People physically unable to use a telephone directory will also be exempt from charges.

Time is ripe for the versatile apple

Apples are an agreeable little food. They bounce along in brown-bag lunches, serving as dessert and natural "toothbrush" all at once.

They bake. They fry. They go into breads. They cook up into applesauce and chutneys.

They're naturally sugary and on top of all that, they're good for you.

Some apples are better for cooking, others for eating out of hand. Figure on Red Delicious for eating raw, and Golden Delicious for eating raw or cooking.

Traditional cooking apples include Rome Beauty, York Imperial, Newtown Pippin, Northern Spy and York Imperial (not all these are available here on a regular basis).

Other cooking apples are Jonathan, Cortland and Stayman, though they don't perform as well as the first group.

Try them in these recipes.

CHEESY APPLE DUMPLING

Pastry:
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese

1 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
6 to 8 tbsp. cold water

Filling:
6 medium-sized Golden Delicious apples, pared and cored

One-third cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/4 tsp. allspice
2 tps. butter

Syrup:
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/4 cup water

2 tps. cornstarch
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. nutmeg

1 tsp. butter or margarine

For pastry, sift together flour and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Mix in cheese and oats. Sprinkle water by tablespoons over mixture and stir lightly until pastry can be formed into a ball.

Turn out on a lightly floured board or canvas. Divide dough into 6 equal parts; roll out each part to form an 8 or 9-inch circle.

For filling, place 1 apple in center of each circle of dough. Combine sugar and allspice; fill apple centers with sugar mixture. Dot filling in each apple with 1 teaspoon butter.

Moisten edges of pastry. Bring pastry up over apples pinching edges together to seal; prick top and sides. Place on cookie sheet.

Bake in preheated 425-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or until apples are tender; serve immediately with syrup.

For syrup, combine all ingredients except butter in small saucepan over medium heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat; stir in butter.

WALDORF SALAD

4 cups coarsely diced Red or Golden Delicious apples
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup broken walnuts
1 cup halved and seeded green grapes
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup sour cream
1 tsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
Lettuce

Place apples in a large bowl and sprinkle with lemon juice. Add celery, walnuts and grapes. Blend mayonnaise, sour cream, sugar and salt. Toss with salad ingredients to coat evenly. Chill. Serve salad in lettuce-lined bowl. Serves six.

Meanwhile, cut each apple in 5 wedges (tip in lemon juice). Saute wedges in 2 tablespoons butter. Cover; cook over low heat about 10 minutes or until tender.

Evenly line the bottom of an ungreased 6-cup ring mold with wedges, skin side down. Drain cooked barley; stir remaining butter into barley. Pack hot barley into prepared ring mold; let stand 5 minutes. Immediately invert onto serving platter; unmold. Fill center with meatballs; serve. Serves eight.

FUND DRIVE SKILLS WORKSHOP JAN. 10

Skills necessary for conducting successful fund-raising campaigns will be the subject of a public workshop sponsored by the Community Involvement Project and the Student Leadership Development Program Jan. 10 from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Fund-raising techniques, selection of projects, creativity, timing, costs, utilization of volunteers and resources, and evaluation of projects will be discussed in the Illinois Room of SIUE's University Center, aimed toward student groups and their advisers.

Church Women United of the Quad Cities will hold its annual Assembly Meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 9, at First United Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue.

Officers will be elected and installed and a budget will be adopted, Marion Pierson, CWU president, said.

The assembly is the sole business meeting of the year for the Church Women's group.

There will be a brief review of the past year's activity and a look at where the CWU programs are at this point. Plans will be made for the year ahead.

Mrs. Pierson said all those attending will be afforded an opportunity to help identify needs in our own community and beyond, and to share in formulating ways in which Church Women United can work toward solutions.

All representatives of member churches, or their substitutes, are expected to attend the assembly, Mrs. Pierson said.

Others interested in the projects and programs of Church Women United are invited to be present, the officer said.

Five pieces of paper, believed saturated with LSD, taken from a soldier by Granite City police last week have been sent to a state crime laboratory for analysis.

The slips of paper had the words, "The Force" written on them, officers said. The 22-year-old Granite City man was released to military authorities, who alleged he was absent without leave.

Dairy day

Madison County dairymen have marked Tuesday, Jan. 9, on their calendar. Area Dairy Day will be held at the American Legion Hall in Breese from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. that day.

Highlight of this year's program is a review of new Illinois animal waste regulations and an update on animal health programs.

Ralph Johnson, University of Illinois Extension dairy specialist, will explain the livestock waste regulations and what they mean to producers. He also will suggest ways producers can meet the requirements.

The Chouteau Town Board of Trustees finalized a $5,000 grant to the Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department by signing a contract with the firemen at Tuesday night's Chouteau Town Board of Trustees meeting.

The contract provides that the township will release money to pay invoices incurred by the firemen for uniforms, to make final payment on a lot the department is purchasing

Baby Amy in the spotlight

Newborn Amy Lorene Barlock was doubly honored this week. Born at 7:58 a.m. on Jan. 1, 1979, the 8-lb., 7-oz. girl was not only the first baby born in the new year at St. Elizabeth Hospital, but was also the first born during the institution's diamond jubilee.

Being born on New Year's Day and the unofficial birthday of the hospital didn't seem to affect tiny Amy very much. She slept through most of the little ceremony that was held in her honor.

The adults around her were quite a bit more excited.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald (Shells) Barlock, 1621 Sycamore Ave., received gifts for Amy and a lot of attention. Mrs. Barlock received flowers from the hospital. Flash bulbs popped as the media was invited to catch up on.

Everyone was excited, even the doctor who delivered her, Dr. Harold Toussaint, and the nurses who were there.

The entire hospital was buzzing with the news and everybody was talking about it, with the exception of Amy. She had a lot of sleep to catch up on.

Even the pioneers didn't face some of our problems

"Don't play tricks on Mother Nature," commercials warn, and Quad-Cityans were reminded forcefully during the New Year's weekend of nature's awesome power to complicate their lives in this highly mechanized and automated era.

After ice-related power failures that left some homes cold and dark, area residents have begun comparing their hardships with those faced during frontier life in this nation's formative years.

Although a few storm tasks are reminiscent of pioneers' chores, the problems of 1979 are even more difficult to solve despite all the scientific progress.

Horses could carry people to their destinations, in almost any kind of weather, but autos often will not. There was always a reserve supply of wood to put in the stove in olden days, but houses lacking fireplaces usually find their heating and cooking units inoperable when the supply of electricity is halted.

Fortunately, although technology has changed drastically, neighbors remain constant, enabling Quad-Cityans to cooperatively cope with their surroundings, no matter how cankerous Mother Nature may become in months like January and February.

Venice Council has capable potential acting mayors

It is highly unfortunate that a 4-4 Venice City Council split that developed during deliberations over a now-defunct off-track betting messenger service — reappeared this week with a tie vote on the designation of an acting mayor.

Efforts to resolve the impasse are to be made tonight. Perhaps a compromise can be reached by choosing an alderman other than the two who received votes on Tuesday night.

Cable TV plans offer wide range of entertainment

First-run motion pictures and major sports attractions in local homes without internet connections by commercials? A live view of local public meetings and of Congress in action? This was the prospect described to Granite City municipal officials last night as three cable television companies reviewed their potential services.

Approval of a franchise after appropriate agreements are worked out was recommended last night by the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce board, and undoubtedly many other citizens would like the opportunity to broaden the range of programs available on their television sets.

Two of the firms, Jones Interactive and Southwestern Cable TV, said they are sure there is sufficient interest here to make it financially feasible to connect homes with wires that would be attached to existing utility poles.

To the extent that the public is willing to pay for expanded within-the-home entertainment, the availability of cable television could serve as an attraction for families to reside in the Quad-City area. A commission of about three percent of gross revenue also is being offered to cities authorizing franchises to a specific provider.

The topic seems worthy of full council study, and action if acceptable "fine print" can be agreed upon through bid proposals and franchise negotiations.

Dr. Edward Kozycki, a member of an advisory board to Kenney, put it this way recently: "I've served on the Illinois Conservation Advisory Board for 13 1/2 years, and under three previous directors."

Kozycki indicated that maybe one of the gripes being leveled against Kenney is his attitude toward all areas of conservation.

"Some of our previous conservation directors in Illinois have been more environmentalists and preservationists than Kenney," said Kozycki.

He said the utility faces the job of "cleanup" which will involve repair of sagging power lines, leaning utility poles and clearing away tree limbs overhanging power lines. He said this type of work was pushed aside as second priority while repairs were being made.

At one point Sunday afternoon, a break in a major power transmission line between the Army Installation and the Pontoon Beach substation left from 800 to 900 homes without power and plunged the Nameoki shopping area into darkness and cold.

Most of the power line breaks resulted when tree limbs, overweighted with ice, snapped and fell, breaking power lines to homes and businesses. Many

Retain the director

To the Editor: A move by the Illinois Environmental Council (IEC) to oust Illinois Department of Conservation Director David Kenney is not only ill-advised, but it doesn't even add up when one takes a look at the man's record on the job.

Admittedly, Dr. Kenney cannot make all groups happy all the time. But he has brought more cohesiveness to the DOC during his less-than-one-year tenure than virtually any director during the past decade.

This is not to say there were not some potentially serious directors during that 10 years. But on the other hand, look at the records of some who did hold the post of director of the department.

Meanwhile, Dr. Kenney has brought a sense of balance in certain areas of the conservation endeavor.

There will always be pro and con arguments about what are the most important obligations of a department of conservation, and with those beliefs you eventually have the great American democratic spirit put into action — the ensuing backbiting wounds of a political system, whether they be well-intended or for strictly personal reasons.

First off, Dr. Kenney is not a politician, but he works for a politician and he readily admits that Gov. James Thompson is in the driver's seat.

But let me tell you something, folks. Jim Thompson has enough things to keep him busy without getting involved in the DOC.

So that leaves Dr. Kenney, an erudite and sensitive man who left no as a political science instructor at SIUC, to face the maddening crowd on his own.

Kenney quickly caught on to that fact, so he started surrounding himself with people who believed in conservation issues, and in dealing with the public.

Dr. Kenney is not a school biologist or a professionally-oriented environmentalist, but he is an administrator, and he has learned more about Illinois conservation matters in his first year on the job than some men learn in a four-year hitch in the post.

Dr. Edward Kozycki, a member of an advisory board to Kenney, put it this way recently: "I've served on the Illinois Conservation Advisory Board for 13 1/2 years, and under three previous directors."

Informed consent law, scrutiny of abortion tests recommended

To the Editor: In July 1977 the Illinois Federation for Right to Life corresponded with Dr. Paul Peterson of the Illinois Department of Health regarding the death of Barbara Lee Davis following an abortion in Granite City. Mention was also made of a death of a woman in Champaign.

While the Federation holds the position that there is always a danger to the woman's physical and psychological health, we have also always been concerned with the effects of abortion on women.

Across the nation, those involved in the right to life movement have been in the forefront of proposing and supporting legislation on informed consent — advising the women of the dangers to themselves, and of the formation and development of their unborn child.

The American Civil Liberties Union, Planned Parenthood, NOW and the National Abortion Rights League have all worked diligently to oppose such legislation.

While we hold that abortion is not actually a medical procedure, since medical treatment traditionally implies the treatment of a patient with a disease or condition, we believe that a normal, natural state, not a diseased one — the proponents of abortion — is the point to be made.

We would then charge that the proponents of abortion have failed to provide for medical procedures. For instance, if a woman is found to be pregnant, she is surgically removed, pathology reports and examination — to prove that surgeons are not removing healthy tissue for profit.

If abortion is only a medical procedure, why should the patient not have informed consent?

It is in its infancy, according to a high-level government report. Wayne L. Granquist, an associate director of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), said that startling information to a group of senators not long ago.

In his testimony, he also indicated that the only reliable data available was on costs (not benefits) of environmental regulations and federal paperwork.

"In some cases, we are certain that large costs are incurred with little benefit," Granquist said.

A report cited by him, concluding that we are still in infancy in cost-benefit analysis, was made by the Department of Commerce, which reviewed 40 different studies.

This news from top government sources comes as something of a shock to those of us who have been advocating that the government develop and use these analytical techniques, which would help us understand environmental rules that add billions to operating costs of industry.

Private economic studies have shown for months that government regulatory requirements are a significant cause of inflation. When he appeared before the Senate Commerce Committee, Robert S. Strauss, the president's inflation adviser, agreed.

But, here on earth, we are still toddlers when it comes to being able to tell whether we are getting our money's worth in benefits from the estimated $100 billion a year spent on government regulation of the economy.

The state of the art — our ability to assess the costs and benefits of regulation, weighing one against the other — is in its infancy, according to a high-level government report.

Area preps ready for action after tournaments

GRANITE CITY — Area prep basketball teams will be back in action this weekend after the furious holiday tournament break last week.

Local teams will see action with two having games tomorrow night and all four in action Saturday.

Tomorrow (Friday) night, Granite City South, fresh from an impressive victory over Decatur Lakeview in the championship game of the Wood River Holiday Tournament, will travel to Troy for a game with Triad (St. Jacob-Troy-Marine).

The Triad Knights are also coming off an impressive victory. Last week they upset tough Lebanon by one point for the consolation championship of the Freeburg Christmas Tournament.

Also tomorrow night, Belleville Althoff will visit Granite City North at Memorial Gymnasium. The Steelers of North are still searching for their first victory of the season, bowed out at the Breese Mater Dei Christmas Tourney in two straight games.

The Althoff Crusaders are in almost the same boat. They have only one victory (in overtime over Shelbyville) and did not place in the tough Charleston Holiday Tournament at Eastern Illinois University.

Saturday night, all four Quad-Cities teams will be in action. North will travel back to Breese for a game with Breese Mater Dei, which captured the consolation championship in its own tournament last week. South will be at home Saturday against Cahokia which had a strong showing last week in the Pekin Tournament.

Madison, a fourth place finisher in the Mater Dei Tournament, will see action Saturday night at home against a tough Okawville club. Okawville beat Granite City North in the first round of the Mater Dei Tournament by over 30 points.

The Trojans will have the services of all-state guard James Heard, who is coming off a three-day suspension from school because of a fist fight before the Christmas break. Since the suspension covered the holiday, he is not allowed to play during the Mater Dei Tourney.

Venice, the surprise team of the area last week in Class A (small school) circles, will face a tall Altamont squad at home Saturday night. Altamont also has a victory over GCHS North this season.

Venice is coming off an impressive showing in the Freeburg Tournament. The Red Devils going into the meet were 0-6. Not given much of a chance, they proceeded to knock off number two seed Lebanon, number three seed Chester and beat Coulterville to earn a trip to the championship game against New Athens. The Yellowjackets prevailed, but not before a scrappy Venice team had made a name for itself.

Starting times for all games will be 6:30 p.m. for the junior varsity contest and approximately 8 p.m. for the varsity game.

Prather Junior High Wrestling Tourney set

GRANITE CITY — Plans have been completed for the eighth annual Prather Junior High Wrestling Tournament to be held here this Friday and Saturday, Jan. 5 and 6 at the Prather Junior High School Gym.

The tournament will feature a look at some of the younger wrestlers of the area who could be the Granite City North and South wrestlers of the future and will have eight teams participating.

Teams entered in this year's tournament are Prather, Coolidge and Grigsby junior highs of Granite City, Alton Junior High, Edwardsville, Bethalto, Mascoutah and Murphysboro Junior High School.

Coolidge is the defending champion of the tournament. In fact, the Braves have won the last five Prather meets. Kirby Junior High of Hazelwood, Mo., won the first two tournaments, when it was a seventh, eighth and ninth grade affair. Since 1973, however, the tourney has featured only seventh and eighth grade wrestlers. The Braves are a bit down this season, however, and there looms a possibility a new champion will be crowned at the tourney. The Braves currently are 2-3 in Madison County Junior High Conference action, standing in fourth place (out of six teams).

Teams given the best chance of unseating the reigning titlists are Grigsby, Edwardsville and Prather. The Grigsby Gators are in first place in the Madco Conference with a 5-0 record. Edwardsville is 4-1 and in second place, while Prather is third with a 3-2 mark.

The tournament will begin tomorrow (Friday) at 6 p.m. and will continue with two sessions on Saturday.

Saturday, the first session will begin at 11 a.m., with the finals set to begin at 1:30 p.m.

Admission prices for the tournament will be $1 for students and $1.50 for adults per session.

In addition to the wide-open team race, an interesting contest for individual champions could evolve. There are no returning champions from last year's tournament.

GOING UP? Granite City North wrestler Doug Sheppard has a worried look on his face as he is lofted high in the air by an opponent in a recent Steeler meet. Granite City wrestlers — both North and South — will get back into action after the holiday tournament break in a pair of triangular meets with Pekin and Peoria Richwoods at GCHS North Saturday.

GC grapplers in triangulars

GRANITE CITY — Both Granite City North and South's wrestling teams will be back in regular season action this weekend after the South Tournament, with a pair of triangular meets.

North and South will each face Pekin and Peoria Richwoods in triangular meets, to be held at GCHS North Saturday beginning at 1 p.m. North and South will not wrestle each other.

South is coming off another championship of its own Holiday — wrestling tournament. The Warriors edged Pekin by six and a half points for the team championship. Sam Perkins (at 138 pounds) and brother Dean Perkins (at 145 pounds) won individual championships for South in the tournament. Gerald Miller won at 96 pounds for North's Steelers.

North finished fifth in the 16-team tournament.

Pekin, on the other hand, had no individual champions in the tournament, instead relied on a strong overall performance, getting several seconds, thirds and fourths.

But in a meet such as the one this weekend, it won't do Pekin's Chinks much good to have a wrestler finish second.

But before the Saturday meets, both North and South will have regular dual meets tomorrow (Friday) night.

North will travel to McCluer North for a 4 p.m. meet. Three levels (varsity, junior varsity and sophomore) will participate in the meet.

South will be at home, to face Belleville East in a 7 p.m. meet. All four levels (varsity, junior varsity, freshman and sophomore) will be in action during the meet.

Dutchmen in Florida meet

BELLEVILLE — A special financial guarantee has made it possible for Belleville Area College's basketball team to participate in what Coach Bill Franey calls the "best junior college tournament in the nation." The contest is the Pensacola News-Journal Tournament, held annually in Pensacola, Florida. The tournament director has guaranteed the team $800 to enable them to make the trip.

Other colleges involved in tournament play are Anderson Community College, Faulkner State Community College, Gulf Coast Community College, Shelby State Community College, Perkinson Community College, Chipola Community College, and Pensacola Community College.

According to Franey, several of the teams against whom the Dutchmen will play were in the national playoffs at Hutchinson, Kansas last year.

The first game for the Dutchmen at Pensacola will be 4 p.m. today. If they win that game, they will play again at 9 p.m. on Friday. If they lose, their consolation game will be at 4 p.m. on Friday. If they win the first two games, they will compete again for the tournament championship at 9 p.m. on Saturday. WIBV radio plans to broadcast all games live.

Schoolfield at SIUE

By NANCY WEIL for the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — Cheryl Schoolfield, freshman basketball sensation from Granite City, had but one goal in mind for her freshman year at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. That was to start just one basketball game. She did not have to wait long to fulfill her ambition. It happened in the second game of the season against Southeast Missouri State University.

Since then, she has proved to be a very valuable asset to the Cougars.

"I was very surprised when I heard my name being called as a starter," said a smiling Schoolfield. Basketball is her favorite sport, and she has been playing it ever since grade school.

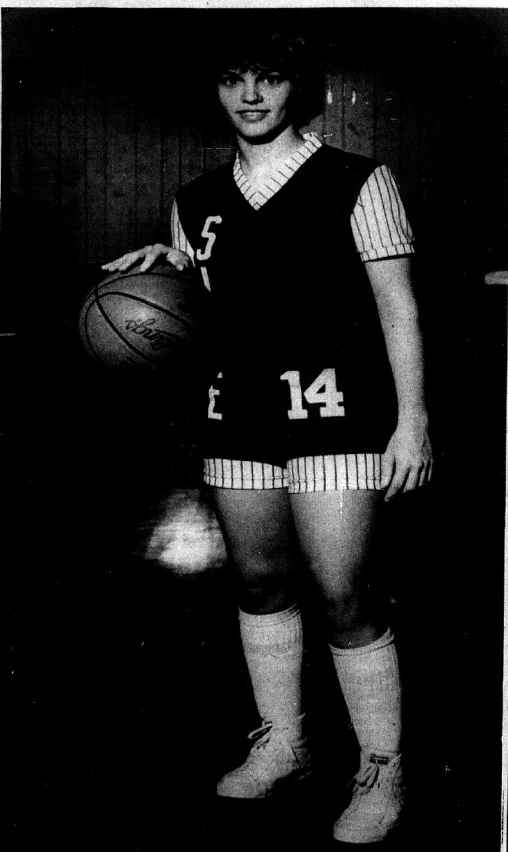

With all that playing experience, it would seem that she would be confident on the court, and indeed she does play a very confident game. "Confident? Heck, I'm always scared to death. When I play badly, you know, like goof up, it makes me feel like a freshman," she said.

Many of Schoolfield's teammates tease her about her freshman status. But it is just something you get used to, according to Schoolfield. She has also acquired a nickname — "Peanuts" — because of her fondness for the grober.

Schoolfield decided on SIUE because it was close to home, and now she is really pleased with the way everything is going. "I like the women's athletic program here. I like the coaches. They are more personal — more like friends," she said.

Schoolfield has won several athletic awards for her ability. She was named to the Belleville Fabulous 15, American High School Athletes, and Metro-East All-Star prep team, but the one that means the most to her was being chosen Class Athlete at Granite City North.

"People who I knew felt that I deserved it — that makes it more of an honor," she said.

CHERYL SCHOOLFIELD

Friends are not the only ones who support Cheryl Schoolfield. "My parents are to go to all of my games they're great," she said.

South girls to rely on top conditioning

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Pat Yates hopes strength isn't necessarily in numbers. Yates, the head girls basketball coach at Granite City South, is worried about the fact that there are fewer players out for her squad this season. In fact, the number has gone from about 25 in 1978 to the current 15.

"Sure, it worries me," said Yates. "But there's something that bothers me even more. We don't have any seniors OR freshmen on the team."

"The situation with the seniors doesn't bother me as much as the freshmen," she said. "I hope it's not a trend. We could be in real trouble in a few years."

Yates said she worries about foul situations in games because of the small size of her team. "In the junior varsity games, we could be in trouble," said Yates. "But in varsity games we'll be all right as far as that goes. Everybody is eligible to play varsity."

South will field a team this season which will depend on its physical conditioning for much of its strength. "We've worked awfully hard on conditioning," said Yates. "We'll probably try to use the fast break a little more this season. I think we can because of our condition."

One weakness Yates doesn't know if she can improve on is rebounding. Her tallest player this season stands at 5'9", not exactly a tower of power. "Our biggest weakness last season was offensive rebounding," said Yates. "I hope we can do a little better because of added experience, but our lack of height is still going to be our biggest weakness."

Yates said the team has been working on many different offenses than were used last season. "We think we can handle them this season," she said. "The girls are better at handling more things to think about."

One other thing Yates hopes to do this year is get the ball inside to that 5'9" player, sophomore Chris Boyd. "If we can get the ball in to her," said Yates, "we'll definitely have a more varied attack."

"Chris can do a whole lot with the ball," said Yates. "She's got about as natural a basketball motion as any girl I've seen. She dribbles, passes and moves with a lot of ease. . . . It comes natural to her."

Other probable members of the Warriorettes' starting lineup this season will be forward Laura Gabriel, a junior tennis star at South, Nita Graham, sophomore guard (daughter of Madison basketball coach Larry Graham), Susan Bell, junior guard and either Betty Bulva or Kathy Feigl.

Missing from the lineup this season is a familiar name. . . . Kathy Becherer. A senior this year, Becherer was the leading rebounder on the team last season. But she broke her arm in mid-November and will have a cast on for six weeks longer.

"With her absence, we're going to be even weaker at rebounding," said Yates. "She's 5'10" and could have helped out a lot in there."

Another possible breakthrough into the starting lineup is Terry Schuler. "Terry's been working real hard and isn't too far away," said Yates. One addition to the team this year Yates is glad to see is an assistant coach. . . . Jim DeMoulin. He is the first assistant coach Yates has ever had. "He's done just a super job," said Yates. "He knows a lot about basketball and how to communicate with the players."

"There are many practices I let him handle much of the drills and instructions. Which teams in this area does Yates feel will be the ones to beat? "Oh, the usual," she said. "East St. Louis, Lincoln, Belleville West and East St. Louis Senior."

"It seems they are always the ones to beat. They've got good programs. I hope our height doesn't hurt us too bad against them."

"I remember it did against Lincoln, but I think with our speed we'll be able to keep up with them a little better than we've been able to in the past."

One weakness Yates recalled from last season's team was its inability to handle man-to-man defenses. So what have the Warriorettes been working on? "Man-to-man offenses for those defenses," she said. "It's good to know what you have to work on."

"Maybe if we find out even more, we'll be able to do some good later on."

South's schedule begins Jan. 14 against Duplo.

Sport seasons changed

BLOOMINGTON — Changes in the sport season, clarification of important segments in the transfer by-laws, tightening of participation limits for members of school squads, and the annual election of officers of the Illinois High School Association (IHSA) have been approved overwhelmingly in the regular fall referendum by member schools.

Five sport seasons have been moved, while the starting and ending criteria for 17 others have been modified. Sports seasons moving are: Girls Swimming from the winter to the fall; Boys Swimming from the spring to winter; Girls Gymnastics from the spring to winter; Boys Gymnastics from the winter to spring; and Girls Archery from the fall to spring.

The changes establish three distinct season concepts: fall, winter and spring. Modifications in the starting and ending dates for the sports to be conducted during the three basic seasons have been adopted to eliminate much of the overlap in the ending of seasons and beginning of others.

With the 1979-80 (next) school year, the Association will conduct the following state tournament-meet series during the three seasons: Fall Boys — Cross Country, Football, Golf and Soccer. Fall Girls — Cross Country, Field Hockey, Golf, Swimming, Tennis and Volleyball. Winter Boys — Basketball, Swimming and Wrestling. Winter Girls — Basketball, Bowling and Gymnastics. Spring Boys — Baseball, Gymnastics and Track and Field. Spring Girls — Archery, Badminton, Softball and Track and Field. Dates for the levels of competition in each of the state series to be conducted during the 1979-80 school year will be determined by the Board of Directors.

Holiday drive to help Armenians in Lebanon

The traditional celebration of Jan. 6 as Christmas by Armenians throughout the world is being marked by church leaders here and abroad in special appeals to remember the war-ravaged Armenian community in Lebanon.

"In the festive days of our Christmas, let us give wholeheartedly and selflessly to the orphan, the weak, and the homeless; let us give a cup of water to thirsty souls, and let us help make the Armenian Christmas of 1979 into a day of rebirth for a segment of our people."

Thus reads the message issued in New York by the prelate of the Armenian Apostolic Church of America, Bishop Mesrob Ashjian.

From Etchmiadzin, the Holy See in Soviet Armenia, His Holiness Vazgen I, catholicos of all Armenians, exhorted, "Sons of the Armenian Church in all corners of the world, organize with love, cooperation and a united will, this God-plesing work of brotherly assistance to the disaster-stricken in Lebanon and in the rebuilding of their houses of worship and education."

A similar plea was made by His Holiness Karekin II, catholicos coadjutor of the Great House of Cilicia in Lebanon, who urged all "to keep Lebanon continuously present in their prayers and thoughts, and to do their best in helping us in our difficult task of alleviating the plight of our people."

As the result of a joint communiqué from the two Holy Sees, the Armenian Committee for Aid to Lebanon was formed to coordinate relief activities. His Grace Bishop Ashjian will serve as president. Representatives from the United States and Canada will serve on the executive council.

All funds and aid will be dispersed by the Central Armenian Committee for Social and Economic Rehabilitation in Lebanon in accordance with the directives of the joint communiqué.

The mailing of a direct appeal for aid from 27,000 church members throughout the Eastern Diocese of the Armenian Apostolic Church of America is being undertaken to coincide with the Armenian Christmas season. The fund drive will also include a "Kids Helping Kids" project, to be followed by proclamation of Feb. 4 as Solidarity Day with Lebanon.

Churches throughout the world will dedicate that day to programs and activities to focus attention on the plight of their suffering brethren in Lebanon.

The Armenian Committee for Aid to Lebanon is located at the Prelacy Headquarters: 138 E. 39th St., New York, N.Y. 10016.

Walnut trees too good to be true?

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Area Adviser, Horticulture
Have you seen magazine advertisements that offer spectacular flowering trees? The advertisement mentions thousands of flowers that produce a "riot of color."

They claim it grows so fast you can record new growth week after week, and becomes a towering showpiece in two years. And the best part of it is the bushels of walnut fruit.

If you are impressed with these claims, here are some of the details. This advertisement is describing juglans nigra, the common black walnut.

In the reference book, "Trees for American Gardens," Don Wyman of the Arnold Arboretum offered these comments about walnut trees:

Black walnuts are included in his reference book on ornamental trees only because they grow so extensively throughout the United States. It is too coarse for a street tree and its nuts falling on the road would make driving hazardous.

Its flowers have no interesting ornamental value and it has no autumn color. The roots of walnut trees give off a substance that retards the growth of many other kinds of plants; hence, it should not be grown near valued specimens or a garden.

This is two versions of the same tree. When you review an advertisement for a spectacular plant, remember, it may literally be too good to be true.

Spend a few minutes to find the scientific name of the plant. Use that name as a basis for more information. Every public library has a small collection of reference books on horticulture. It might save you ten years of waiting for a walnut tree to start to flower in order to determine whether the advertisement was true or not.

ALL-DAY HAZARD. The build-up of ice on downtown Granite City Christmas decorations caused these at 19th and State Streets to sag during most of Sunday. A van is seen barely able to clear the intersection under the decorations, which had dropped to only eight feet over the pavement, making bus traffic detour around the obstruction. Anna Karenina back Leo Tolstoy's romantic tragedy of Russian society in the late 18th Century comes to life again when Masterpiece Theater's lavish ten-part dramatization of Anna Karenina returns to Channel 9 at 9 p.m. Fridays beginning tomorrow.

Nicola Pagett, who previously appeared as Elizabeth Bellamy in "Upstairs, Downstairs," stars as Anna, a beautiful but defiant young society woman involved in a love affair with the affluent aristocrat, Count Vronsky, played by Stuart Wilson.

Eric Porter (Soames in "The Forsyte Saga") portrays Karenin, Ann's stern conservative husband. Robert Swann is featured as Levin, an eccentric nobleman who lives as a peasant.

Considered by many to be Tolstoy's greatest work after War and Peace, and as the foremost novel of modern realism, Anna Karenina contains characters that constitute a Tolstoy self-portrait, according to the series host and narrator, Alistair Cooke, Count Vronsky, Karenin and Levin are all derived from Tolstoy's life and experiences.

It was written and produced by Donald Wilson, responsible for "The Forsyte Saga" and "The First Churchills."

The atmosphere of the Moscow and Petersburg settings used by Tolstoy in the novel is recreated through Budapest, Hungarian and English filming locations.

Technical aid on management of solid waste

The Midwest office of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is announcing a newly-established program that will provide technical assistance to state and local governments to deal with solid waste management problems.

The program is part of a national effort to provide information on and improve methods of solid waste handling. Its several dimensions can be tailored to a community's needs.

For instance, if a city is considering a recycling program as an answer to its disposal problems, information may be needed on whether or not the recycled material produced would be locally marketable.

Or, a township may have an open dump that is filling up to its capacity and may want to create a sanitary landfill to satisfy new federal regulations. A geologically sound site would be needed that wouldn't affect the community's water supply.

EPA can provide information and assistance to these communities and others working to solve their solid waste problems. For a community to be eligible, EPA must determine there is a real need, and that technical assistance would be a substantial help to the community.

One method EPA may use is a new program called Peer-Matching. This program allows public officials to meet with others from across the country who have successfully handled the same problems.

EPA's own specialists, supplemented by a private consulting firm, also are available to provide technical, marketing and financial expertise.

Any state, county or other local governmental agency may apply for assistance. They may contact: Robert L. Dreyer, Regional Technical Assistance Panels, U.S. EPA Region V, 230 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. 60604.

State raise rollback session

By CARYL CARSTENS
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Legislators have been called back to Springfield today by Gov. James Thompson for a one-day special session Friday to consider a temporary rollback of the $6,000-a-year pay raises passed Nov. 29 for themselves, the governor and other state officers.

Thompson Tuesday afternoon issued the order for a special session to convene at noon Friday.

Instead of receiving the full pay raise, effective this year, the legislators and state officers under Thompson's proposal would get step raises over the next two or three years until they reach the level of pay voted in November.

The plan has been approved by federal wage and price control officials, but received no support from legislators when Thompson brought it up three weeks ago.

"I am convinced that an overwhelming majority of the people of Illinois favor a rollback and phase-in of salary increases for the executive and legislative branches of state government," Thompson said in a statement announcing the special session.

"I believe the membership of the General Assembly should have the opportunity to vote on the salary schedule I proposed, which includes a rollback and phase-in," he said.

Thompson has been flooded with letters disapproving the pay raises, and his office staff has stockpiled thousands of tea bags mailed by irate citizens.

However, one legislative staff member said the protest has been centered in central and southern Illinois.

Hanson retires

Donald M. Hanson, vice president-administration, Hubbell Metals Inc., service center organization based in St. Louis, retired Tuesday after 39 years of service. Hubbell Metals is a newly-acquired subsidiary of National Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Hanson had been vice president-administration for the past five years. Prior to that, he was vice president and southern regional manager, headquartered in Atlanta.

In 1951, along with Curtis Carmichael of Detroit and the late Harry King of Baltimore, he assisted in establishing the Copper & Brass Warehouse Association (now Copper and Brass Service Center Association). He served as vice president and director for several years, and was elected president in 1953.

Hanson and his wife, Patricia, plan to take up residence in Gulf Shores, Ala.

Specialist on weather

RANTOUL, Ill. — Air National Guard (ANG) Sergeant Daniel K. Seltzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Seltzer, 2306 E. 25th St., Granite City, has graduated with honors at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., from the U.S. Air Force technical training course for weather specialists.

Sgt. Seltzer, now qualified to operate storm detection and weather communications equipment, is returning to the Missouri ANG unit at Lambert-St. Louis Municipal Airport.

The sergeant is a 1970 graduate of Granite City High School. His wife, Cheryl, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Neal, Peru, Ind.

E. 28TH BURGLARY
A $200 fur coat, a $20 woman's coat, three children's games worth $5 each, 10 old silver dollars, 10 Eisenhower dollars and a $2 bill were stolen during a burglary at the home of Paul Gain, 2605 E. 28th St., it was reported this week. A door was forced open to gain entry.

There has been little negative reaction from Chicago and its suburban areas, he said.

Sen. David Shapiro, R-Amboy, Republican leader in the Senate, predicted the staggered pay raise proposal will pass the Senate, but "will have a rough time in the House."

Rep. George Ryan, House Republican leader, said he has no idea what the sentiment is in the House.

Though he wouldn't reveal his position, he did not support the governor's proposal when it was first discussed with General Assembly leaders in December.

"If it's the same proposal, I haven't a position on it, I want to remain flexible," Ryan said, saying he wants to talk to other legislators before taking a position. Ryan blamed the surge of protest on "news media." He said he has had "only" 50 or 60 letters on the pay raises, not as many as he has received on other subjects. Ryan predicted the position of Speaker William Redmond will be a major factor in the fate of the legislation. Redmond, a Bensenville Democrat, was a strong supporter of the pay raise.

For the staggered pay schedule to take effect, the legislature must take action before Monday, Jan. 8, when new state officers are inaugurated. The new session of the legislature will begin on Wednesday, Jan. 10.

Thompson's staff said Tuesday a simple majority in each chamber is all that is needed for passage.

The State Constitution requires a three-fifths majority for any bill passed after June 30 if it is to become effective before July 1 and June 30, only a simple majority is needed and an immediate effective date may be inserted.

If the legislature had taken action on the staggered pay increase schedule in December, 107 votes in the House and 36 in the Senate would have been required.

But when the legislature meets Friday, after the start of the new year, 89 yotes is all that is required in the House and 30 in the Senate, according to the governor's staff.

Under the governor's order calling the special session, only one bill may be considered, a bill sponsored by Sen. Harber Hall, R-Bloomington, in the Senate, and Rep. Theodore Meyer, R-Chicago in the House.

The bill, a vehicle calling for 81-a-year pay raises for legislators, was filed last year so there would be a measure available if the legislature decided to pass a raise increase. It was passed in the House, but held in the Senate on Dec. 14 placed the bill at passage stage, so it can be acted upon when they return.

Under the governor's proposal, the legislators would receive a 20 percent increase this year, a 9 percent increase in 1980 and 8 percent in 1981, bringing them to a total salary of $28,000. Their old salary is $20,000 a year.

The governor, other state officers, agency heads and others affected by the pay raise measure, would receive 10 percent this year and no more than six percent raises in succeeding years until the pay level approved by the legislature in November is reached.

Thompson's salary would be increased $5,000 this year to $55,000 and $3,000 in 1980 to $58,000.

Raises given to judges aren't affected. They went into effect Dec. 1, when they took office, and cannot be retracted under the Illinois Constitution.

Of the $8,400,000 a year estimated cost of the pay hikes approved by the General Assembly, $5,800,000 is required for the judicial raises.

Pay increases for legislators and state officers amount to $2,600,000 annually and the cost will be scaled down if the governor's proposal is accepted.

Seminars during hospital's jubilee

Seminars, workshops and clinics will be a part of a year-long program scheduled through 1979 in observance of the 75th anniversary of St. Elizabeth Hospital, it was announced Friday.

The local hospital began serving the community in 1904.

To broaden knowledge and understanding of preventive health care, the hospital's Social Services Department will conduct a series of seminars on stress, its causes and how it can be avoided.

Plans are also in the works for a clinic to help diagnose high blood pressure or susceptibility to it.

Another priority in the hospital's diamond jubilee year is establishment of a VIAL program, similar to one currently sponsored by St. Joseph Hospital in St. Louis.

VIAL is an acronym which stands for Very Important Answers Location. The program involves placing small plastic cylinders containing vital health information in homes of elderly citizens and people who live alone.

The cylinders are placed on the first shelf of the refrigerator in each home. In the event of an emergency, police and ambulance attendants will have information about a victim's health status so they can take action even if the person is unable to communicate.

Dedication of the hospital's new 50-bed psychiatric building is expected during the spring. The dedication is tentatively set for April.

There also will be a variety of social events for hospital associates and the community to celebrate St. Elizabeth Hospital's 75th birthday.

CAR HITS POLE

Catherine Vaughn, 29, of 2604 Proves Ave., was injured when her northbound car crossed the street on State Street north of 15th Street and struck a utility pole Thursday. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, but declined treatment and left, officials said.

DISNEY CHARACTERS

Art, language mastery linked

By Eugene L. Alassi
Granite City School District
Art Education Consultant
Dr. Harry S. Broudy, professor of education, University of Illinois, is currently a visiting professor at California State University, Los Angeles. He is the author of many works in the philosophy of education, past editor of "Educational Forum" and a member of the editorial board of "Journal of Aesthetic Education."

He reports that the public and educators must realize that the aesthetic mode of human experience is not only nice, but necessary.

The experience in art is delightful on its own account—where nobody can or does deny. And, second, art persuades the pupil to consume more of the basics—reading and mathematics.

Also, it has been proven that work in art will actually help youngsters improve reading scores.

Environment is drenched in art. Everywhere one looks, a person sees art: packaging, home decoration, office decoration, car colors and design.

Every item in a department store had to be designed through art.

Art education is so much more than drawing pictures. Art is used in reaching special education handicapped children. Art is used in all advertising—in the news media, television and signboards.

All education begins with pictures. We teach a child by pictures and then supply a word to the picture.

It must not be forgotten that we read with imagination and not merely with phonetics and the dictionary.

Children with impoverished image stores will not read; they will simply decode mechanical messages.

Art enriches the store of images that makes comprehension of concepts possible and comprehensive.

This is the proper contribution of aesthetic education to language mastery. And if this is not basic to education, then it is difficult to imagine what would be.

Aesthetic literacy is as basic as linguistic literacy.

MICKEY AND MINNIE MOUSE.

Johnson Elementary School Christmas program featured Mickey and Minnie Mouse in "The Wonderful World of Christmas." From left are Judy Russell, fourth grade teacher and co-chairman of the program, Mickey Mouse (Leroy Smellie), Minnie (Dot Bailey) and Loretta Wollbright, co-chairman of the program.

Pack 46 holds yule meeting

Members of Den Four of Cub Scout Pack 46, sponsored by Nameoki School PTA, presented the opening flag ceremony and led the pledge of allegiance at the December meeting. The also led the group in singing "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

The Christmas tree was decorated with handmade ornaments made by the scouts. Games were played in the yuletide atmosphere under the direction of Cubmaster Jack Dawson.

Cubmaster Dawson presented gag gifts to the den leaders and committee members in keeping with their assignments with the pack.

Highlight of the evening was a visit from Santa Claus who gave a gift to each child present. He also distributed pinewood derby kits to the scouts in preparation of the derby race scheduled for the January meeting.

Robert Brooks received a patch for completing a bike ride on the Madison County Bike and Nature Trail and Den Four was awarded the "cubby" honor for the month.

Closing ceremony was led by Den Five and refreshments were served by the Webelos mothers.

FOOD STAMPS STOLEN

Cardboard taped over a broken window was pushed in to unlock a door to the apartment of Sandra Sheatham, 4008 Kirkpatrick Homes, by burglars who took three books of food stamps and three bottles of drugs. It was reported at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Cueto succeeds Solomon, Robert Briscoe promoted

As disclosed by the Press-Record Thursday, Eloy M. Cueto has been named vice president of quality control at Granite City Steel, effective Jan. 1, succeeding Russell C. Solomon Jr., who retired December 31.

Cueto had been chief metallurgist in the Department of Metallurgy and Quality Control. Announcement of his promotion to vice president was made by GC Steel President James V. Stack.

Robert D. Briscoe has been promoted to the position of chief metallurgist. He had been assistant chief.

Granite City Steel, largest steel producer in this region, is a division of National Steel Corporation.

Cueto, 55, started with Granite City Steel in June 1949 as a junior metallurgist in the Department of Metallurgy and Inspection, and held various posts in the department before being transferred to the Operating Department, where he was appointed assistant general superintendent — finishing and then general superintendent-finishing.

ELOY M. CUETO

He transferred back into Metallurgy and Quality Control — formerly the Department of Metallurgy and Inspection — in 1977, and became chief metallurgist in September of that year.

A native of East St. Louis, Cueto attended the University of Illinois and then the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla, receiving from the latter a bachelor of science degree in metallurgical engineering in 1947.

He served three years as an ensign in the U.S. Navy in the Pacific Theater during World War II, and is presently a lieutenant junior grade in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

Cueto and his wife, Louise, live at 43 Twin Lakes Drive, Troy, Ill. They have four sons — 29, 27, 19 and 16 — one daughter, 23, and three grandchildren.

Briscoe, 53, started with Granite City Steel in 1951 as a junior metallurgist. Over the years, he held a number of positions in the metallurgical area.

He also served in the Operating Department for a time, and was Cold Strip superintendent for more than four years. He was Primary Division metallurgist, and then Finishing Division metallurgist in the Department of Metallurgy and Quality Control prior to his appointment as assistant chief metallurgist in September 1977.

Briscoe received a bachelor of science degree in metallurgical engineering from the Colorado School of Mines in 1951. He and his wife, Meri, live at 2487 Forest Shadows, St. Louis County. They have a daughter, 26.

Filing opens Jan. 8 for park posts

The filing period for the Granite City Park Board election in April will open Jan. 8 and continue through Jan. 22, members of the Park Board were informed in a regular meeting last week.

The election, in which two members of the five-member board will be elected will be held April 17, the third Tuesday of the month, under a state law that permits park boards to choose either the first or third Tuesday for elections.

Terms of two members will expire on the Granite City Park Board in April — those of Jack Hinterser, now board president, and Robert Patrick. Hinterser has not decided if he will be a candidate, but Patrick said he intends to run.

Board members were informed that the state license for operation of the Wilson Park swimming pool next summer has been renewed by the Illinois Department of Public Health, but plans for the pool opening will not be made until later. The swimming pool must pass inspection before it can be placed in use.

The commissioners approved a request to conduct an eight-hour Skate-A-Thon at the ice rink Feb. 22 to raise funds for aiding physically handicapped children and adults.

The board also decided to continue in its agreement with Madison County allowing a 20-foot easement in Worthen Park for construction of sanitary sewer lines as part of the county sewer project in Nameoki, Venice and Chouteau Townships.

Also approved was a request by The Hospice of Madison County to use the Lincoln Place Community Center for regular meetings at 7 p.m. on the second Monday of each month.

AUTO STOLEN

Gary Wright, Lot 138, 3801 Lake Drive, reported at 9:25 a.m. Friday that between 9 p.m. Thursday and about 7 a.m. Friday someone stole his 1978 Chevrolet Monte Carlo, parked near his residence.

1978 rainfall 'normal'

Rainfall in the Quad-City area during 1978 was near normal than it has been in many years, according to statistics compiled by the Press-Record.

Precipitation during the year, in fact, was only 1.08 inches below the year's normal rainfall of 33.47 inches.

The total fall was in contrast to a total of 41.34 inches during 1977, or 6.74 inches above normal, and precipitation of 18.06 inches in 1976, or 16.40 inches below normal.

The 1978 precipitation of 33.47 inches included a December rainfall of 1.30 inches, or 67 of an inch above the December normal of 1.97 inches.

Rain was recorded on only five days of the month, with a "trace" recorded on three other days. Rain fell on Dec. 2 with .04 of an inch and on Dec. 23 with .23 of an inch. On Dec. 7 rainfall measuring .06 of an inch fell, and on Dec. 8 a fall of .47 of an inch was recorded. A trace, which is moisture too light to be recorded as rainfall, was recorded.

There was no additional rainfall recorded from Dec. 12 to Dec. 30 when 26 of an inch of precipitation was recorded, and Dec. 24 on which .24 of an inch was registered.

During the year, the wettest months were March, with 5.48 inches (normal 2.34), May with 5.54 inches (normal 3.73), July with 3.48 inches (normal 3.20) and November with 4.80 inches (normal 2.57).

Less than an inch of rain fell during only one month — February with only .79 of an inch, against a normal fall of 2.04 inches for that month.

In January last year, 2.08 inches of rain fell, or .10 of an inch above 1.98-inch January normal. The April fall was 2.14 inches, compared to a 3.71-inch normal for the month.

Total precipitation of 1.49 inches was recorded in June, against a normal of 4.27 inches, while the August rainfall measured only 1.31 inches against a normal of 3.02 inches.

During September, 2.56 inches of rain fell (normal 2.86), and in October, 2.50 inches of rain fell against a normal of 2.86, the same as the previous month.

Disorderly charge

Foster Frederick, 44, of 2428 Logan Ave., was charged with disorderly conduct following his arrest at 1:30 a.m. Saturday at Pete and Mary's Tavern, August Street and Lincoln Ave.

Police said they were called to the tavern and were told a man at the bar was arguing with the customers and using the other customers' money to buy drinks. The complaint was signed by Sharon Lamkin, a barmaid at the tavern.

It's free two ways. First, Club members pay no service charge, no matter how many checks they write. No matter what their minimum balance is. Secondly, Club members never pay for their personalized checks when they re-order. They're free, too.

Is there a catch? Only a small one. Club members pay a $3 membership fee monthly. But that covers a whole lot more than just checks. It covers accidental death insurance, $10,000 worth. It covers travel and lodging discounts. And a periodic newsletter.

for the high school, from Holy Cross Church, Austerman, Duane Rankin of Concordia, Dave Painter, vice-chairman of the board for the high school, from Concordia, Helen Thompson of Trinity, Erven Dellamano of Holy Cross, Elaine Triebes of Trinity, Don Pries of Good Shepherd, Boeker, and Arlen Dalhaus of Good Shepherd. Kneeling from the left are Ervin Palau, treasurer for the school, from St. Peter's, Bill Ebel, administrator, Dr. Dan Bosse, secretary of the board, from St. Paul and the Rev. Gil Busarow of Holy Cross.

Lutheran High buys site at Glen Carbon

The Metro East Lutheran High School Association has announced purchase of land for future construction of a permanent home for the school. The acquisition followed an extensive search that spanned several years. The association searched, first, for an existing facility that would be suitable for a high school. When it failed to find a suitable place, it began a search for a site, and 24 sites were examined. The location selected is on Center Grove Road between Routes 157 and 159. The property lies between Glen Carbon and Edwardsville, not far from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The association has purchased 10 acres, with an option for an additional 10 acres. The school, registered with the Illinois Office of Higher Education, is in its second year of operation and is currently located at St. Paul Lutheran Church, 1327 Vaughn Road, Wood River. It offers a secondary educational program in a Christian environment. The school currently has a freshman and sophomore class and will be adding another freshman class next year as these two classes move forward to become sophomores and juniors in the 1979-80 school year. The high school will remain at St. Paul Lutheran Church next year and will move to the Center Grove Road site as it becomes available. The school is open to students of any race, color or creed.

The association is currently developing a phased building program and will begin interviewing architects and engineer-building companies in the near future. The group hopes to complete these tasks by the spring of 1979, with construction starting as soon as building specifications for the phased program are complete.

Lutheran High School is made up of the following Lutheran churches representing 5,000 area Lutherans: Concordia - Granite City, Good Shepherd - Collinsville, Holy Cross - Collinsville, St. John - Maryville, St. Paul - Wood River, St. Peter - Caseyville, Trinity - Edwardsville, and Unity - East St. Louis. Several other Lutheran churches are expressing interest in joining the association.

Youths charged

Russell E. Kastings, 17, 29 Snowbird Lane, and Randall Moulton, 17, of 1940 Joy Ave., were charged as minors in possession of alcohol at 8:40 p.m. Saturday after the car in which they were riding was stopped by police at Pontoon and Maryville roads.

Officers reported they stopped the car after seeing it "fishing" and alleged they found three full bottles of beer and three empty beer bottles in the car.

This is a story of desperation. A certain nobleman has a son at the point of death. All alternatives are exhausted. He has heard of the miracles of Christ and he asks the Lord to heal his son. Jesus says simply, "Go thy way, thy son liveth. The nobleman believed and received."

It is no more difficult today to receive a miracle from God than it was two thousand years ago. First, do you have a need? Then, will you ask God to help you? Last, but not least, will you believe?

Perhaps you have never, thought of asking God to help you. Why not try to exercise your faith in the one who can really help you. Today.

2nd chance on some 'circuit breaker' aid

Senior and disabled citizens who did not get their applications in for 1978 circuit breaker grants before the Dec. 31, 1977, deadline have a second chance to submit these applications.

A law newly passed by the General Assembly and acted on by Governor James Thompson extends the deadline for such applications to March 31, 1979. The state's circuit breaker law makes tax relief available to persons with annual household income of less than $10,000 who are 65 years of age or older or who are disabled.

Under the 1978 program, property tax relief grants of up to $300 and additional grants of up to $100 were available to citizens who qualified. A person may qualify for one or both grants.

The amount of a property tax relief grant is dependent on the person's income and the amount of taxes paid. For persons renting their homes, 30 percent of the rent is figured as property tax payment. Additional grants are based solely on the individual's income.

Persons who have already received tax relief grants for the 1978 tax year are not eligible to receive grants again.

The Illinois Department of Revenue, the state agency which administers "circuit breaker," reports that 390,781 applications for 1978 grants have already been processed and $74.4 million in tax relief grants have been distributed to senior and disabled citizens.

Department statistics show that 247,879 persons received property tax grants for 1978 averaging $176.24 and 387,270 received additional grants averaging $79.32.

November figures released by the Revenue Department show that $359.2 million has been distributed to senior and disabled citizens since the inception of the program.

Applications (form IL-1363A) are available from any Illinois Department of Revenue office, the Illinois Department on Aging and its affiliated agencies, the Lieutenant Governor's Senior Action Centers, area equality offices and various senior citizen centers.

Citizens also may obtain applications by calling the Department of Revenue toll-free at 800-252-8972. The lieutenant governor's senior action line, 800-252-8585, or DIAL (Disabled Individuals Assistance Line) which can be called collect at 312-763-5900. A TTY machine is available at DIAL for the deaf and hearing impaired.

The Directory Assistance charging plan starts now.

Starting with phone bills dated January 4 and later, Illinois Bell will begin charging extra for heavy use of Directory Assistance.

The immediate difference on your phone bill will be a new credit. You'll receive a credit of 25¢ for each of your telephone lines. You'll get it every month. Regardless of how many times you call Directory Assistance.

Starting with bills dated February 4 and after, your bill will carry a 20¢ charge for each call you've made to Directory Assistance over eight per billing month per telephone line.

But there are exceptions.

1. If you're physically unable to look up numbers in your directory, you won't have to pay extra for calling Directory Assistance. Ask your Illinois Bell service representative to send you an exemption form to fill out and mail back.

2. If you call from any coin telephone, you won't be charged extra.

3. The same goes for all calls from telephones in hospitals, hotels and motels.

4. The same also goes for calls to a Long Distance Directory Assistance operator in a different area code.

Here's what we've learned.

From the experience of other telephone companies, we know that, once a plan is in effect, only about 6% of residential customers will end up paying extra in any given month.

Most people avoid the charge simply by keeping their calls to Directory Assistance down.

Illinois Bell wants the conversion to the new plan to be as simple as possible. If you have any questions, call your service representative.

*Business customers with Private Branch Exchange (PBX) or Centrex will be charged in a slightly different way.
